Policy Said Unchanged In Lineup of Ford Team

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford is changing personnel but not policy, declaring a new team of "my guys" will continue on a course of peace and prosperity into the 1976 campaign.

Ford announced the biggest shakeup of his administration Monday night in the top levels of defense and foreign policy. He also said that while Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller is dropping off the election team, Rockefeller has promised to support his election bid.

Ford told a nationally broadcast news conference that he isn't worried about Ronald Reagan or any other challenger and that he is optimistic about the election one year away.

"I am not worried about my competitor, Democratic or Republican," he said. "I am convinced the American people feel that we have been successful in foreign policy, the Middle House that Colby had co-opera-

"I am convinced that we are well on the road to a good economic situation in 1976. So, when you combine peace and prosperity, any incumbent president ought to be very happy."

The personnel changes included:

—James R. Schlesinger, who has frequently disagreed openly with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger over detente with the Soviet Union, is out as secretary of defense. He will be replaced by Donald Rumsfeld, now White House staff chief.

Sources close to Ford say Rumsfeld will balance Kissinger's influence and that both will have equal access to Ford, though Pentagon officials say Rumsfeld will have to assert himself early to avoid being dominated by Kissinger.

—William E. Colby is fired as head of the CIA, to be replaced by George Bush, former Texas congressman, Republican national chairman, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations and now U.S. representative in Peking.

Ford said Colby has done an outstanding job of working with Congress during a difficult period of intelligence investigation. Colby's resignation had been expected after current congres-

Ford News Highlights

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are highlights at a glance of President Ford's news conference Monday night:

VICE PRESIDENCY — Ford said he neither asked Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller to step aside as a potential 1976 running mate nor tried to talk Rockefeller out of his decision. Ford refused to speculate on running mates.

APPOINTMENTS — Ford wants to put his own selections into key national security positions, and he announced his intention to nominate Donald H. Rumsfeld as defense secretary; replacing James R. Schlesinger; George Bush as CIA director, replacing William Colby; and Lt. Gen. Brent Scowcroft as adviser on national security affairs, replacing Henry A. Kissinger, who will continue as secretary of state. Ford also said Elliot L. Richardson will be nominated to be commerce secretary replacing Rogers C.B. Morton.

FOREIGN POLICY — Basic elements of U.S. policy, including detente with the USSR, will be continued by the new foreign policy team, he said.

ELECTION CAMPAIGN — Ford said he is happy and optimistic about his election chances and isn't worried about Ronald Reagan or any Democrat.

NEW YORK CITY — There is no serious possibility that there will be any national repercussions to any default by New York City, Ford declared. He said city and state could do more to solve the problem.

Pentagon Change Said Aimed To End Bickering

WASHINGTON (AP) — In stressing the team theme in his national security leadership changes, President Ford indicates he expects no more bickering between the Pentagon and State Department.

But some veteran Pentagon officials say that Donald Rumsfeld, named to become the new secretary of defense, will have to assert himself early to avoid being dominated by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

In a Monday night news conerence, Ford said neither policy nor personality differences between Kissinger and Secretary of Defense James R. Schlesinger contributed to Schlesinger's ouster in favor of Rumsfeld.

That does not square with accounts from Pentagon sources associated with Schlesinger. These sources say Ford told Schlesinger on Sunday he was being replaced because there had been too much friction between Schlesinger and Kissinger over detente with Russia.

Ford said "there were no basic differences" between himself and Schlesinger.

But the President left the impression that he kept Schlesinger on at the Pentagon for 15 months after President Richard M. Nixon resigned only for continuity until Ford was prepared to form his own team.

"I wanted a team that was my team," Ford said.

By every indication, Schlesinger did not regard himself as a temporary holdover and was surprised when Ford notified him Sunday that he was out.

Sources close to Ford predicted that Rumsfeld, a longtime friend and now the President's chief of staff, will have much more influence with Ford than Schlesinger ever had.

One such source said that "three weeks after Rumsfeld is confirmed, you won't be seeing any more of this Kissinger meeting with Ford."

Ford himself spoke of Rumsfeld's "working relationship with me."

Although the President said "the nation owes a deep debt of gratitude" to Schlesinger for serving in a number of high government posts, Ford did not praise Schlesinger's performance as defense secretary.

By contrast, Ford said, "I'm keeping Secretary Kissinger because he has done an outstanding job."

Aides said Schlesinger plans no public statements. He probtary's plans for the future are for the last time at the end of this week.

The outgoing defense secretary's plans for the future are uncertain, but aides said he has received some offers to write articles and that he may accept them.

Until Rumsfeld is confirmed by the Senate, the Defense Department probably will be headed on an acting basis by Secretary of Defense William Clements.

WILL FIGHT TO SAVE HIS FARM — Portuguese farmer Jorge Van Zeller, left, stands with his armed foreman on his farm about 100 miles south of Lisbon. The farmer says he would rather die than let communist forces take over his land. According to Portugal's regional agricultural representative, there are 20 to 30 land grabs each day in the country's Central Alentejo Plain. (AP Wirephoto)

Mixed Reaction Reported

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford may have intensified his political difficulties with both ideological wings of the Republcan party by overhauling his administration shortly before Ronald Reagan launches his conservative challenge.

Republican moderates and liberals reacted sharply to the administration shakeup and announcement that Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller won't be on Ford's planned 1976 ticket.

Liberals claimed the President's acquiescence in Rockefeller's withdrawal was yet another gesture to appease GOP conservatives.

Some conservatives said they had long since discounted Rockefeller as a running mate for Ford and concentrated instead on deploring the President's dismissal of Secretary of Defense James R. Schlesinger, who shares their skepticism about Soviet intentions.

One GOP conservative, Sen. James A. McClure, R-Idaho, said he was "very distressed" about Schlesinger's departure but not surprised about Rockefeller's.

The ultimate impact, McClure suggested, might depend on whether administration defense policies now move away from Schlesinger's mistrust of detente and appeals for restoration of arms budget cuts.

Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., who has endorsed Reagan, went further, declaring that the day's events had produced "the spectacle of an unelected administration experiencing an upheaval.

"I think it's been a net plus for Reagan."

Sen. James L. Buckley, Con-R-N.Y., said the decision by Rockefeller to withdraw had removed a major stumbling block for Ford among GOP conservatives, even though many had expected it.

However, that view was challenged by John Sears, the executive vice chairman of the committee that is laying the groundwork for Reagan's expected presidential announcement later this month.

"When people don't want to do something, they often make up a reason for it," Sears said. "As lot of people who simply do not want to support Mr. Ford simply gave that (Rockefeller) as a reason."

GOP liberals generally expressed little interest in the substitution of White House Chief of Staff Donald Rumsfeld for Schlesinger.

They made it clear they were distressed that Rockefeller, whom they considerd to be the spokesman for their viewpoint, was leaving under circumstances they felt amounted to being eased out.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said the net effect was to damage the President's hopes of winning a full term next year.

"Ford stood a better chance to be elected with Rockefeller than without him," the New York senator told a news conference.

Rep. John B. Anderson, R-Ill., expressed fear that GOP conservatives might feel they had succeeded in forcing the Vice President out.

"It may whet their appetite," Anderson said.

And Sen. Charles McC. Mathias Jr., R-Md., who indicated last week he might get into the presidential race if the Ford candidacy falters in the Feb. 24 New Hampshire primary, called the Rockefeller withdrawal "a very unhappy decision" for both the GOP and the nation.

"I think it further narrows the base of the Republican party," said Mathias, who fears that Ford's effort to appeal to conservatives is driving away moderates.

N.Y. May Face Chaotic Situation, Solons Warn

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican congressional leaders met with President Ford today and said afterwards that legislation is needed within two weeks to prevent chaos in New York City's fiscal crisis.

Sen. Robert Griffin, R-Mich., and House Minority Leader John Rhodes told reporters that the only possible legislation that could be passed in that time would be President Ford's proposed measure to change the bankruptcy laws.

Rhodes said there is no chance that Congress could pass in the next two weeks any of the bills now being considered to bail New York City out of its financial problems.

President Ford has said he will veto any of those bills, and he urged the GOP leaders to push hard for the passage of his bankruptcy bill.

The House Banking Committee voted 23 to 16 Monday to approve a proposal that would supply New York City wtih $7 billion in loan guarantees. Supporters of the bill said it could be considered by the full House next week.

Figures from the city comptroller's office show New York could default by next Monday. On that day, the city must redeem $270.7 million in one-year notes, but the comptroller's office said cash flow indicates the treasury will be short $178 million.

"As far as a New York City default is concerned, it has become apparent that there really isn't a chance that any of the legislation being considered can become law before the city defaults except the bankruptcy bill," Rhodes said.

He said it now appears that the city will have to default by the 15th or 20th of November.

"We need to pass the President's bankruptcy act if we want to avert a really chaotic situation," Rhodes said. He said the President's bill would be a "step in the direction of an orderly transition ... and enable courts to take over and enable the city to pay its bills and avoid chaos."

The President's action would insure that such vital services as police and firemen would be maintained.

New Crisis Reported in Bangladesh

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The political crisis in Bangladesh apparently continued today for the second day with most communication channels still cut and army officers reported seeking a bigger role in the government.

Diplomatic sources said that according to reports from Dacca President Khondakar Mushtaque Ahmed was still the chief of state, but there was a possibility his powers woudl be eclised by the army, leaving him only a figurehead.

The officers had remained in the background since overthrowing Sheikh Mujibur Rahman last Aug. 15, allowing Mushtaque and his civilian cabinet to run the day-to-day civil administration.

Dpilomats said the situation in Dacca was still fluid but there was no fighting. They said the crisis resulted from a feud in the army between senior officers and a group of majors who had staged the August coup.

Indian press reports cleared by censors said Brig. Khalid Musharaf, the No. 2 man in the army, was now the de facto strong man although it was not known if he would be able to consolidate his power.

The reports said that the army chief, Lt. Gen. Ziaur Rahman, had been arrested. Rahman, a hero of the 1971 war of independence became chief of staff last Aug. 24, apparently at the urging of the junior officers who overthrew Mujib.

Reports received through diplomatic channels said half a dozen junior officers responsible for the killing of Mujib and his family during the coup had been taken into custody at the presidential palace, where they had taken refuge for the past 11 weeks.

Two splits have been reported in the 35,000-man army: between senior officers and the junior officers linked with the overthrow of Mujib, and between officers who fought for the independence of Bangladesh in 1971 and those who were stationed in West Pakistan at the time and could not get into the fighting.

Brig. Musharaf was one of the latter group and was not allowed to return to Bangladesh until 1973. The repatriates initially were viewed with suspicion by the officers who took part in the war, but they were later assimilated into the army.

Radio Bangladesh, which was off the air for more than 12 hours Monday, resumed broadcasting today, but its newscasts made no reference to local political developments.

Dacca airport was closed for the second day, and international communications services were still not operating.

U.S. Auto Industry's Recovery Accelerates

DETROIT (AP) — Domestic car sales in October were the strongest in at least 16 months, topping the recession-depressed levels of October 1974 by an estimated 22 per cent, auto industry analysts predict.

Analysts said the renewed sales muscle by the U.S. auto companies would cut the import share of the American new - car market to its smallest monthly penetration this year.

Industry analysts also expected Japan's Toyota to overtake Volkswagen in calendar-year sales, marking the end of VW's 20-year reign as the king of imports.

The domestic and foreign car makers report their October sales today, and analysts say the results will provide continued evidence that the industry's recovery from a two-year slump is accelerating.

Sales of domestic cars were estimated at 768,000, compared with 627,521 a year ago when the recession and record price increases on new models sent sales plummeting to their poorest October levels in a decade.

The sales would give the U. S. companies their best monthly performance since May 1974. It also would mark the first time since September 1973 — when the energy crisis first triggered the industry slump — that sales outpaced those in the same year-ago month.

Sales of imports, which have captured a record 20 per cent of the U.S. market so far this year, were estimated at 135,000, year ago. But the sharper gain in domestic sales would shrink the foreign makers' share to a more traditional 15 per cent.

By comparison, imports took a 17 per cent share in October 1974 and a 19 per cent share in September.

Analysts said the imports' strength earlier this year was due to fuel-economy advantages and lower prices, in some cases. But the domestic companies have eliminated much of those advantages this fall by offering more small models with prices and fuel economy competitive with the lowest-priced and fuel-stingiest imports.

Antibusing Riot Hits Louisville

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Police used tear gas and made at least seven arrests in breaking up an angry crowd of brick- and bottle-throwing protesters after an election eve antibusing rally in southern Jefferson County.

Several thousand persons were called upon at the rally Monday night to "vote the ins out" in today's Kentucky general election to show their opposition to court - ordered busing for school integration.

The crowd then marched toward Southern High School, and some of the protesters, chanting "We're going to get the buses," became unruly when about 35 Jefferson County policemen in riot gear prevented them from reaching buses parked at the school.

Before the group was dispersed, a number of policemen were hit, but not seriously injured, by bricks and bottles hurled from the crowd, and tires and trash from dumpsters were use to kindle bonfires along the street.

St. Joseph's Infirmary reported that one man, Edgar Annibal, 63, was brought in from the protest area with a broken leg.

The protestors also roughed up a Louisville Courier-Journal photographer covering the disturbance and damaged equipment and cars of other newsmen.

The crowd, estimated at 5,000, had gathered in a Topps Department Store parking lot for an "Election Eve March for Freedom."

William Kellerman, president of Citizens Against Busing, urged the demonstrators to vote in today's election and "with very few exceptions, vote the ins out."

He said the antibusing message would be heard "not only in Kentucky, but in California, in New York City, in Florida and, above all, in Washington, D.C."

Defendant Found Guilty of Kidnaping, Rape

Robert A. Trujillo was found guilty Monday afternoon of kidnaping and rape. The first offense carries a life penalty in the penitentiary, and the second five years to life.

Trujillo, 24, of 1415 W. Colorado Ave., was also charged with three additional counts constituting the major habitual criminal. During the course of his trial he chose to testify, admitted the three previous felony convictions and as a result is now facing a mandatory life sentence.

The defendant in the present case was charged with kidnaping and raping a 32-year-old woman. She was dragged by the hair across Cucharras Street late at night, forced down into the basement steps entering the old courthouse and then beaten and raped.

In his closing argument Dep. Dist. Atty. David Zook referred to the three previous felony convictions and said "truth and honesty are not one of his strongest attributes." He reminded the jury Trujillo had testified he found the woman after she had been abducted and raped, yet a police officer told the jury the defendant said he had been in the bar with the victim, who had collapsed when they left together.

Zook said the woman was "a poor, helpless girl, crippled in her legs and crippled in her mind." He admitted she had contradicted herself several times, but said she had difficulty in understanding questions put to her and that her listeners had difficulty in understanding her.

One thing, however, stood out clearly, the deputy said. The woman had said on the stand, "This is the man."

Public Defender Barney Iuppa said the People had failed "to meet the burden of proof." The defendant had testified he did not arrive at the bar until after two in the morning and the rape had happened at 11:30 p.m.

"You cannot convict an innocent man because you feel sorry for the victim. You cannot ignore the inconsistencies in her testimony."

He ended saying, "If you return a verdict of guilty, you will be convicting an innocent man."

In a brief rebuttal, Zook, referring to the intelligence of the victim, said "I do not think she is capable of framing anyone."

Judge John F. Gallagher, who was on the bench, gave defense counsel until Nov. 20 to file any motions for a new trial.

Holly Among Five Firms Accused of Price Fixing

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Five sugar refiners and four lock makers were accused of fixing prices Monday in civil suits filed in federal court by the Arizona Attorney General's office.

C&H Sugar Co., Holly Sugar Co., based in Colorado Springs, Consolidated Foods Corp., American Crystal Sugar Co., and Spreckels Sugar Co. rigged prices, forcing 500,000 Arizona households to pay excessively for sugar between 1950 and 1972, the antitrust suit says.

Unspecified damages are sought on behalf of all Arizona consumers, said Kenneth R. Reed, director of the attorney general's antitrust division.

Eaton Corp., Emhart Corp., Ilco Corp. and Sargent & Co., all out-of-state firms, were accused of fixing prices since 1950, allocating sales among themselves and submitting rigged bids to Arizona, its political subdivisions and school districts.

Because of the alleged price-fixing conspiracy, the state and subdivisions "were compelled to pay substantially higher prices for such contract hardware and master key systems than they would have paid had the combination and conspiracy not existed," the suit said.

All the named sugar companies except Spreckels were indicted on criminal price-fixing charges last year by federal grand juries in California.

"No-contest" pleas were entered by Holly, Consolidated Foods and American Crystal, who subsequently were fined a total of $200,000. C&H pleaded innocent.

Although Spreckels was not indicted, the firm has been named a defendant in civil antitrust cases in other states.

Gas Line Installation Limits Mid-City Traffic

Some traffic interference will occur during the next few days in the Nevada Avenue-Pikes Peak Avenue area because of installation of a new gas line to serve the new Colorado Square Building.

Officials of the gas division of the Department of Public Utilities said it will be necessary in the construction to tap a six-inch natural gas main in Pikes Peak Avenue, then run a four-inch main northward to Nevada Avenue along the east side of the street to the alley.

Saw cutting of the street asphalt will be done Monday and Tuesday, after which an open cut will have to be made for the new line. During that time, officials said, there will be only one through lane for southbound traffic on Nevada in front of the new building. There will also be one lane southbound for traffic wishing to turn east onto Pikes Peak.

Then between 6 a.m. to about 2 p.m. Sunday, there will be only one eastbound lane for traffic open on Pikes Peak Avenue between Tejon Street and Nevada Avenue. This has to be done in order to tap the six-inch gas main so that the four-inch line can be run north to the Colorado Square Building.

Gas division officials said there would be adequate signs in the area to handle the traffic situation during construction.

Model Legislature Session

Students Asked To Consider Government

A group of local junior high and high school students were urged Monday night to give serious consideration to who will run the country as they prepared to participate in a model legislature session later this month in Denver.

Twenty-five youths from here are scheduled to participate in Youth in Government activities this fall as part of a program of studying the state government. They will join youths from other parts of the state.

The Pikes Peak or Bust by '76 Centennial - Bicentennial Committee gave the Pikes Peak Y Youth in Government program $500 at the meeting to help finance the program.

The money was presented by David Hughes, chairman of the committee.

Rep. Ken Kramer, R-18th Dist., talked to the student group at a meeting in the Y-USO building and answered questions about ideas the students have for introduction into state government.

Some of the questions dealt with federal areas, and so will be beyond the purview of the students when they hold mock sessions of the state assembly, with students being senators, representatives, and lobbyists.

Each of the students has a chance to research an idea and write a bill that may or may not get through the mock assembly at the session scheduled for Nov. 24 through 26.

Questions ranged from anti-litter proposals and land use planning to minimum wage laws and trans-mountain water diversion projects.

Kramer pointed out that the federal government has pretty well pre-empted the field of minimum wages, and that projects such as water diversion come under federal agencies.

Another question, about the rates charged by ski areas, had to be gone over lightly because, as Kramer pointed out, most ski areas depend upon land leased from the federal government and controlled by the U.S. Forest Service for their skiing areas.

Decisions about rates thus become something to be discussed with the Forest Service.

Kramer told the youths that state government is much more efficient than federal government.

As a younger man and while in high school and college he was generally of the opinion that government action could cure most ills, he explained, adding that since getting into his profession of lawyer, and since becoming a member of the general assembly, he has changed his mind.

"The question now is," he said, "who will be the master — you or the government? The government should serve us, but it has grown unresponsive."

He pointed out that American society is complicated today, and that in the midst of this are people in government who would like to impose total control on the citizens.

"Unless we are careful, within 50 years American society will be alien to what we have known with the government in control of every part of our lives," he warned.

He urged the students, "Don't let this happen."

Kramer also told the students:

— The question of taxes on charitable and religious organizations is one of the U.S. Constitution and federal court decisions, so is not one that students could do much with in their two-day session.

— Most general assemblies do pass ideas on to Congress where they are ignored.

He was referring to what are called memorials from one or the other houses of a state legislature, or from the two houses together, which are entered in the Congressional Record, and then "laid on the table." That means just that, they remain in the record and get no action.

"I think they are a waste of time," said Kramer.

— Most tax funds are raised under general taxation and go into the general fund for appropriation by the legislative body, although a few funds are created by special taxes, such as the Highway Users Fund which is financed by specific taxes. Such tax funds are specifically earmarked for use.

— Action in the houses of the Colorado assembly is much more informal than in Congress. He pointed out, for example, that the U.S. House has 435 members, whereas the Colorado House has only 65.

— Members of the assembly are not experts on many things. "We don't know everything about everything. We are part-time legislators who have to become one-day experts. All we can do is take the best available information."

— "Our government is not an ideal system, but somehow it works, and works better than anything anyone else has devised."

— The success of a proposed law as it enters the assembly in the form of a bill depends about 50 percent on its merit, and 50 percent on luck. "If you don't take care of your bill, no one else will."

City Sales Taxes Top $1 Million in October

The collection of city sales taxes in Colorado Springs during October topped the $1 million mark and continued the late-year upward trend that was begun in August.

The October increase became significant because it marked, for the first time, a jump of more than $100,000 in 1975 figures when compared with the same period a year ago.

If November and December collections measure up to those of October, it would mean the city would end the year with totol sales tax collections approximating the $10.8 million projected by city officials when the '75 budget was prepared.

That could mean restoration of some of the capital projects which were postponed by council action when sales tax collections stayed well below projections, and even 1974 totals, for seven months of this year.

October collections amounted to $1,011,444, according to a report released Monday by L.T. Allison, city controller. Thie compared with $947,302 collected in October a year ago, or an increase of 6.7 percent.

The October figure brought sales tax collections in the city through 10 months to $8,892,606, compared with $8,784,703 for the same period a year ago. That's an increase of 1.23 percent on the year.

However, the amounts are actual dollars. There is no allowance made for inflation which has been holding above six percent.

When an inflation factor is figured into the totals, it would mean the actual amount of goods and services purchased thus far this year are still slightly behind the purchases made a year ago.

Only Memory Left Now, McCartney Declares

PERTH, Australia (AP) — "Nothing is left of the Beatles now, only memories," said singer Paul McCartney, a member of the disbanded rock and roll quartet, at his first news conference in three years.

His ambition now is "just to be happy," and he said he is happy with his group "Wings." After a performance Saturday at the Perth Entertainment Center, McCartney said, "The good thing about this group is that it is new.

"It's just at the start of it's life. That's always the best time. The only worry is trying to follow the Beatles. When you're in a group called the Beatles and people see you in another group they say it's not as good. But I think it is. It is a progression. Everything in music is a progression."

Policy Said Unchanged In Lineup of Ford Team

sional probes are over, but sources said the move was accelerated as the result of a growing feeling at the White House that Colby had cooperated too freely with congressional investigators and had allowed too many of the agency's activities to come to light.

—Elliot L. Richardson, former attorney general and current ambassador to Great Britian, is coming home to become secretary of commerce, his fourth Cabinet post under two administrations. Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., immediately foresaw the move as adding Richardson's name to the list of GOP vice presidential possibilities.

—Commerce Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton is returning to private life after the first of the year, but Ford says he will be calling on Morton for aid in the future, raising speculation about a campaign post.

—Kissinger gives up his second role as director of the National Security Council. But Ford says he still "will have the dominant role in the formulation of and carrying out of foreign policy."

Lt. Gen. Brent Scowcroft, long-time Kissinger protege, succeeds his boss as chief of the NSC and as presidential adviser on national security. Some saw this as an effort to mute criticism that Kissinger wields too much power, but some of those Democratic critics maintained that Scowcroft's closeness to Kissinger meant the secretary would still maintain effective control over the NSC.

—Richard Cheney, currently Rumsfeld's top deputy, will take over as chief of the White House staff.

Little opposition was expected when the Senate takes up confirmation of Rumsfeld, Bush and Richardson. The jobs for Scowcroft and Cheney do not require confirmation.

While Ford was preparing these announcements, Rockefeller was popping one of his own Monday — he does not wish to stay around next year as Ford's running mate.

His withdrawal followed months of pressure from GOP conservatives and some Ford supporters to drop Rockefeller because they claimed he was a political liability with an image too liberal for victory in 1976.

However, both Ford and Rockefeller said it was the vice president's own decision, and Ford denied that he had put any pressure on Rockefeller to step aside.

When Ford was asked at the news conference if he had tried to talk Rockefeller into staying, Ford indicated he had not.

Rockefeller's letter lacked any explanation for his decision or any indication of his future plans, including whether he would support Ford or maybe try for a fourth time for the presidency for himself.

Ford said in the news conference that "Vice President Rockefeller has assured me categorically that he will support me in 1976." But the same question put repeatedly to Rockefeller aides during the day drew no response.

The President said it was too soon to be thinking about possible alternatives for the vice presidential slot, but the names of Richardson, Bush and Rumsfeld quickly popped into the speculation, along with Sen. Howard Baker, R-Tenn., who served as vice chairman of the Senate Watergate committee.

Ford repeatedly denied that conflicts between Schlesinger and Kissinger over national security policy had anything to do with the shifts. Ford said Schlesinger and Colby were kept on when he took office in August 1974 at the resignation of Richard Nixon "because I wanted continuity.

"But any president, to do the job that is needed and necessary, has to have his own team in the area of foreign policy," Ford added.

Ford said Colby and Schlesinger had not done anything wrong, but he noted that Bush and Rumsfeld "are long personal friends of mine.

"I am certain that they will contribute very significantly, and these are my guys and the ones that I wanted. And I hope and trust that their confirmation will be quick in the United States Senate."

Ford said he had not decided on replacements for Richardson and Bush in the diplomatic posts. But, in response to a question, Ford said Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania was "a great student of Chinese culture and history."

Asked how he thought Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev might analyze the changes, Ford said he felt the world's leaders would realize that "there is no one in this government more emphatic for a strong national defense and the maintenance of a strong national security than myself, Secretary Kissinger and Don Rumsfeld."

The President also said efforts would continue toward further strategic arms limitations, which Schlesinger had been cool on.

ARRESTED

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Police arrested Jim L. Patton, 24, for second-degree burglary when they found him trapped in a 12-inch square chimney at a drugstore.

A stockman working at the store Sunday called police when he heard a scraping sound. "I kept hearing a muffled call for help," Timothy Terhune added.

Police climbed to the roof and discovered two hands sticking up from the chimney. They belonged to Patton. It took a fire department rescue team 15 minutes to dismantle the chimney and free Patton.

Convention Center Plan Again Raised by CURE

By STEPHEN BOBBITT
Gazette Telegraph
Staff Writer

The Colorado Springs Urban Renewal Effort (CURE) hopes to build a hotel, a convention center, and a parking lot on the old Cotton Club block without raising taxes.

Dianne Ingles, chairwoman of CURE, said at a press conference Monday that more than 20 developers for the $20 million project have been contacted. No firm offers have been received by CURE, she added.

"We have learned that the convention center and parking structure must be built by the public sector as a prerequisit for private development and investment," Mrs. Ingels said.

The public financing for the proposed project will be done through revenue bonding, which will "not jeopardize the city's mill levy or fiscal stability," she said.

The proposed venture includes parking for 400 cars, a 250-room hotel, a 50,000 square-foot office building, a 40,000 square-foot convention-exhibit hall and 18,000 square feet of meeting rooms.

"We don't have a market that necessitates a new office building or a hotel," Mrs. Ingels said. "We can create a market with a convention center."

Financing through revenue bonds does not require a vote of the people, she explained. Revenue bonds must be purchased by private investors seeking a return on the promised revenue to be generated by a project.

Returns on revenue bonds for the convention center project would be obtained through parking, a user tax, room tax, a food and beverage tax and a ticket tax, Mrs. Ingels said.

"If a substantiated market existed, and-or a major office retail tenant were available, they (developers) would be interested in immediately developing a building, or buildings, in the Alamo Plaza Project," Mrs. Ingels said.

"Some developers did voice concern as to whether there was an appropriate political climate and a definite commitment from the downtown community and the city as a whole to make things happen in downtown Colorado Springs."

Since city voters approved a redevelopment plan for the urban renewal area in 1973, CURE has lost two attempts to gain voter approval of general obligation bonds for a convention-civic center.

The original $13 million redevelopment plan was for a five-year period, Mrs. Ingels said. The first redevelopment of the area, the Alamo Hotel, will begin next year.

"The area should be completed in the next five to seven years," Mrs. Ingels said.

"In driving through downtown you have noted that most of the structures in the Alamo Plaza area have been demolished. Already, it may be difficult to remember what structures used to be on the property, how dilapidated they were and the social blight that existed."

The total redevelopment plan includes, office, retail, hotel, parking, convention facilities and "perhaps" housing, she explained.

"While working on getting new development in the area, we are also developing a plan for lighted parking lots and recreational facilities as an interim use for some of the blocks in the area," Mrs. Ingels said.

Other than the redevelopment of the Alamo Hotel, the block will be landscaped into a parking lot, she said.

Of the 74 properties involved in the urban renewal area, 67 have been acquired and two of the remaining seven are "under eminent domain proceedings for determination of fair market value," Mrs. Ingels noted.

A total of $7 million has been paid to property owners affected by the project.

Although Mrs. Ingels said CURE is "working strenuously" to redevelop the Alamo Plaza area, she did say, "nothing definite" is planned beyond the Alamo Hotel and the new county building.

Corrupting Is Being Charged In Boston Race

BOSTON (AP) — Mayor Kevin H. White's campaign for a third successive term is being dominated in its final days by old and new allegations of campaign finance corruption.

The latest charge, disclosed by a television station, dates from White's unsuccessful 1970 campaign for governor. Station WNAC said he met with some real estate men who were asked by a city commissioner, in violation of city law, to contribute $10,000 each.

Until the fund-raising issue arose, the campaign made little front page news. Much of the city's attention seemed to be on the battle between the Boston Red Sox and the Cincinnati Reds in the World Series. But in the two weeks before the Nov. 4 nonpartisan election, nearly all attention has been on charges of corruption in White's fund raising.

Campaign records show White has raised $676,825 for his campaign, while his challenger, State Sen. Joseph F. Timilty has taken in $257,625.

The alleged irregularities have been uncovered by newspaper and television investigations, although Timilty has emphasized for months what he calls "the climate of corruption at City Hall."

White denies knowledge of wrongdoing, saying, "I have never condoned illegal activity in my administration. I have never asked any person to make any illegal contributions to my campaign or anyone else's."

White has stressed the tax rate, which has remained stable for four years, and the city's fiscal good health.

Timilty also has stressed in his advertising that he lives in a working class neighborhood, while White resides in a brick townhouse at the foot of Beacon Hill.

In last month's preliminary election, which narrowed the field to two candidates, White outpolled Timilty 54 to 39 per cent.

Among the other allegations against White:

—WBZ-TV said White five years ago accepted a $1,000 gift from a contractor in exchange for approval of a contract change order.

—New Times magazine and the Boston weekly Real Paper reported that White forced the resignation of a former Redevelopment Authority director who failed to forward an $18,000 campaign contribution.

—A former fire commissioner and deputy chief have been indicted on charges of illegal fund raising for White. Each has pleaded innocent. The indictments followed a Boston Globe investigation.

—The Finance Commission is investigating charges by Rent Control Administration workers that they were pressured to contribute to White's campaign.

HAILS SADAT

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) Gov. Reubin Askew raised a glass of orange juice and hailed Egyptian President Anwar Sadat for "courageous efforts in pursuing the path to a negotiated peace in the Middle East."

Then Askew turned to President Ford and said "be assured of the respect and admiration that the people of this state hold for your efforts to attain a truly final and just settlement in the Middle East."

The governor's toast came at a dinner he gave Sunday night for Ford and Sadat. Orange juice was served because neither Askew nor Sadat drink alcoholic beverages.

Students at Carver Elementary School have a unique flag flying over their school. Many flags are presented to schools which have flown over the nation's capitol but this one has been flown from the northernmost flag pole in the nation. Capt. Hospital Visit Maybe Not So Bad

Nobody likes going to the hospital, but it doesn't have to be as bad as it seems to be.

Children can even enjoy part of the visit, especially if they go to a children's ward where play is an important part of the treatment.

The nurses at Colorado Springs Community Hospital wear brightly colored print smocks and big smiles.

When a child comes in, the first place he goes is the play room, which is stocked with lots of toys, games and books.

Later, the child is taken to his room, which has pretty wall paper and carpet, plus a little television.

But play is stressed over staying in his room, unless he has a disease he can give to others.

The nurses aren't afraid to get down on the floor and play, too. They try to make each child as happy and comfortable as possible.

"Play is very big here," says Pam Crispin, head of the pediatric nurses. A pediatric nurse is one who takes care of children.

"Children need to play, wherever they are. They also get to act out their fears."

Mrs. Crispin says that the visit isn't all fun, and they don't try to fool anyone into thinking it will be.

"Honesty is a real big thing here," she says.

Every child is told he has come to the hospital and what will happen to him, whether it is taking out tonsils or something more serious.

"They know they are going to hurt, usually. We tell them. But we also tell them it won't last forever," she says.

Nearly all the nurses in the pediatrics ward are mothers, and they all say they love children. The rocking chairs in the ward get a good workout.

If a child is going to have surgery, the nurses tell him what is going to happen to him and why. They also tell him where it will hurt and what will be done to make him feel better.

If he is going to have a cast or bandages or an IV, he knows it before hand. An IV is a bottle of liquid hung on a pole and hooked to the child with a tube, to keep him strong while he doesn't feel like eating.

"We don't want him to have any surprises when he wakes up," Mrs. Crispin says.

In order to better prepare children for going to the hospital, the hospital plans to start pre-admission parties around the first of January.

Children can come in, see the children's ward, visit the nurses, perhaps see a film or a puppet show about going to the hospital, and ask questions.

"We are anxious to show that going to the hospital may not be fun, but it can be good. At least it's not as bad as you think it is," Mrs. Crispin says.

BUBBLE STUFF

Bubble-making solution, usually called "bubble stuff' by kids, is easy to make. In a shallow pan, put about half an inch of clean water, then three or four squirts of dishwashing soap. Mix gently so you don't make a lot of suds. Dip a mason jar ring, funnel, or any other round object with a hole in the middle into the solution, then wave through the air or, simply blow into the solution with a straw.

RATTLE TALES

Editor's Note: The following poem was submitted too late for the Halloween issue, but was so good, it was decided it should run this week, anyway.

HALLOWEEN POEM

When the moon is high
And the night is nigh,
When the witches scream
Tis no time to dream.
The Goblin creeps
and no man sleeps,
When the ghosts all howl —
Oh, but their sound is foul!
It will give you a scare
and 'twill raise up your hair,
So be well on guard
When they knock ever hard,
On your windows and doors,
On your roofs and floors.
Not one ghostling lags
When they hold out their bags
So you better be ready and keep your candy supply ready
On that kid-loving night
HALLOWEEN!

The Eagle

The eagle is a bird of prey.

That means that it hunts other birds or animals for its food.

Eagles have four toes with long nails, or talons. They drop out of the air and snatch their prey, then carry it off to their nests.

They nest in the highest branches of trees, or in the crags of cliffs. They, unlike other birds, keep the same nest year after year, adding new materials to it each season. They lay one to four eggs a year.

There are two kinds of eagles found in the United States. Both are becoming fairly rare, but are now protected by the federal government.

The golden eagle has a golden-colored head and brown plumage (feathers).

The bald eagle is not bald, but has a white head and neck when full grown. His other plumage is brown.

Both have some white feathers in their tails. Both have heavy feathering on their legs.

A fierce-looking and sharp curbed beak makes them pretty tough enemies of small game animals and fish.

They are good fishermen, diving from the sky with sharp vision to snatch a fish from the water and carry it off to eat.

They like to be near water, and are more easily found near stocked reservoirs or streams.

They are relatives of the falcon, hawk and osprey.

Eagles may have a wing-span of many feet, depending on the size of the bird, and have been noted for their strength.

Old stories of eagles carrying off babies to their nests are probably not true, since scientific tests have been conducted to see what size weights they can carry, and the average baby weight of seven pounds proved too heavy for all birds tested.

QUICK PASTE

If you're working on a project and don't have any glue on hand, an easy paste can be made by mixing one-half cup of flour into some boiling water. Stir over low heat until it is thick and shiny. Let cool. This can be used right away or stored in a covered jar until you want to use it.

James Coburn to Star With Heston In New Movie

James Coburn has been signed to co-star with Charlton Heston in the upcoming action-adventure western drama, "The Last Hard Man," a Belasco, Thacher and Seltzer production for 20th Century-Fox, it is reported by Alan Ladd, Jr., senior vice president, worldwide production. The deal was negotiated by William J. Immerman, senior vice president, administration and worldwide business affairs.

The film, which started rolling Oct. 20 on locations throughout Arizona, will be produced by Walter Seltzer and Russell Thatcher with William Belasco serving as executive producer. Andrew V. McLaglen directs from a screenplay by Guerdon Trueblood based on Brian Garfield's novel, "Gun-Down."

District 11-CSTA Arbitration To Start Monday

The final step in the efforts to reach a settlement between the Colorado Springs Teachers Association (CSTA) and Colorado Springs School District 11 will begin Monday in a three-day arbitration session.

Sol Yarowsky, Kansas City Mo., has been appointed as the arbitrator for the fact-finding procedures. He is an attorney with arbitration experience in public and private sectors including public school cases.

The award, to be issued by Yarowsky based on the cases presented by both parties, is not binding, and as a result should either party reject the decision a teachers strike still could be in the making.

Last year the dispute over money issues went to this final step, but th eaward was agreeable to both sides and a strike situation was avoided.

In the continuing battle of words between the two parties, with each side accusing the other side of being unco-operative and unmoving, CSTA issued a blast Monday leveled at District 11 Board of Education President Jack Wiman.

The failure of mediation Saturday, according to Phil Moeckli, CSTA president, is "creating an extremely dangerous atmosphere between School District 11 teachers and the board of education."

One of the major issues, Moeckli said, "is the attitude of School Board President Jack Wiman." He continued by saying that Wiman "has never endorsed the collective bargaining process with any enthusiasm."

Wiman, Moeckli said, "feel that teachers do not need to be treated with equity and that teachers will not strike, therefore they will accept whatever he deems appropriate."

CSTA went on to charge that Wiman was "running a one-man show on the school board" and "is calling the shots not to bargain"

Teachers, Moeckli said, have little faith in the fact-finding process. "Our experience with fact-finders across the nation is that they are ill equipped to deal with the kind of catch-up salary problems that District 11 now faces. I seriously doubt that fact-finding will provide the answer"

A mass meeting of teachers has been scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at Mitchell High School to allow teachers to express their desire for future action by their organization. By the end of next week following the fact-finding procedures, Moeckli said, "Teachers will know what they must do."

"The character assassination approach by the Colorado Springs Teachers Association on the head of the Colorado Springs District 11 Board of Education will never prove to be a good method for reaching an acceptable salary settlement for teachers of District 11," according to a rebuttal offered Wiman.

Wiman said that "the people of Colorado Springs are being denied adequate objective information on collective bargaining demands." He suggested that CSTA should agree to "all initial proposals being made public and further that formal bargaining sessions be open to the news media for competent reporting to the community, thus attacks on the Board of Education would be minimized."

School Allocation Plan 'Mystery'

By DRU WILSON

Staff Writer

The logic behind parceling out of extra school revenue base funds has proved to be a mystery for some districts that received no monies while others received anywhere from half to a quarter of their original requests.

When it was established, The Public School Finance Act of 1973 was said to be a method of allowing school districts to "have their tax rates reduced and stabilized."

According to a report on the bill issued by The Colorado Association of School Boards, "Reasoning suggests that the plan should avoid levy increases, in so far as possible, and all districts need an opportunity to look forward to a stabilized mil levy."

This "equalization plan" was to allow districts who have a low revenue base to draw more funds and therefore narrow the gap between them and their richer neighbors while reducing the property tax burden.

Because the bill recognized that "no plan to limit school revenue or budgets can be designed to serve its intended purpose and, at the same time, permit all districts to accommodate their financial needs," the State School District Budget Review Board was established.

Through this designated body the districts could appeal for an increase in the per pupil allowance. The board, upon reviewing the cases grants all, none or some portion of that request. This increase must be supported by an increase in property taxes only. "The plan," according to the school board association, "is designed to accommodate the unique, and sometimes critical, financial problems of a school district."

If the ordinary person was to guess as to which school districts in El Paso County rank the highest in the ability to draw revenue per pupil, they might be greatly surprised at the results.

According to state records Edison School District 54J ranks second in the state with $2,362.52 on its average revenue base and tenth in the state after adding additional funds from state and federal aid grants.

The next highest ranking district from this county is Hanover District 28, 14th in the average revenue base with $1,773.95 per pupil and 18th with the additional aid monies.

Following the ranking down the list is Cheyenne Mountain School District 12, 32nd; Denver Public Schools, 35th; Cripple Creek, 38th; Miami-Yoder School District 60J, 43rd; Jefferson County, 72nd; Peyton, 93rd; Calhan, number 94; and Colorado Springs School District 11 ranks 99th.

Out of 181 school districts the lowest ranking in El Paso County are Harrison, 164th, Widefield, number 166th, Air Academy, 168th and Fountain, 179th.

These last four districts have per pupil revenue base of less than $900 before aid monies. The additional aid monies actually drops Harrison to 169th in the ranking, drops Widefield to 178, raises Air Academy to 155 and Fountain to 147, but still leaves them far behind to the rest of the county's districts.

It was these "poorer" districts that received none or very little of their request for additional revenue base funds.

Harrison, Widefield and Cheyenne Mountain were denied any portion of their requests, while Air Academy was granted $6.62 or about a fourth of its request. District 11 was granted about a third of its request.

Bruce Dickinson, executive director of the Pikes Peak Education Association (PPEA), said that his organization is concerned over the rationale used to apportion the funds. PPEA represents teachers in Harrison, Widefield, Fountain, Canon City and Florence.

The decision to deny these districts extra funds, Dickinson said, is widening the gap between them and other more wealthy districts rather then "equalizing" the opportunities.

He pointed out that Denver was one of those larger and higher ranking districts which received an increase of $83.35 per pupil from the board, and Jefferson County was granted $97.37. Both were granted about half of their original request.

Requests to the board totaled 71 out of 181 districts with increases of some amount granted to 57 and 14 denied altogether.

Requests totaled $49.3 million, and the awards to the 57 districts totaled $27.3 million or about 55.3 percent. Eleven of those requests granted were for the total amount. Falcon School District 49 was the only district in El Paso County to receive the full amount.

According to the news release from the review board, Lt. Gov. George Brown, board chairman, said that "the Review Board examined each district request individually and in detail in an effort to balance educational need with the tax burden."

It continued by saying that considerations included legislative mandated increases, inflation claims, declining or increasing enrollments and fixed costs. The board said that it trimmed what it felt to be "luxury items, program expansions which could be delayed and expenditures that could be extended over a two or thre-year period." Th board said that it was "especially careful not to, in any way, interfere in teacher negotiations."

Dickinson said that the negotiations were affected particularly in Canon City, another

Isaac Backs Pay Raises If Other Cuts Are Made

By W.J. McGLASSON
Gazette Telegraph
Staff Writer

City Councilman Robert Isaac said today he'd support the addition of $250,000 to city employe pay raises and benefits in 1976 if the administration could eliminate enough dead wood, both personnel and programs to cover the added cost.

At present, a pay package of about $750,000 in raises and additional benefits is included in the '76 budget now under study by council.

Council did not act on the suggestion.

However, after Isaac opened the early - morning session by urging council to establish an 11-mill tax levy immediately, there was disagreement and, in the end, Isaac's suggestion failed on a 4-4 tie. This was not a formal vote but merely a decision as to whether to set the mill levy today.

With that out of the way, council then agreed to stick by its original schedule which means the mill levy will be set officially, on first reading, at next Tuesday's formal council meeting.

Athough there was a 4-4 vote on whether to set the mill levy today, there still is every indication that a majority of five will stick with 11 mills rather than increasing the levy to 12, which was proposed in the preliminary budget.

Mayor Larry Ochs has previously stated he wants the mill levy to stay at 11. He is joined in this sentiment by Vice Mayor Richard Dodge and Coucilman Don Willman, Charles Brown and Isaac.

But today, with Councilman Luis Cortez absent, Ochs voted against setting the mill levy today saying he wanted to "keep the faith" since council had previously stated it would not be setting the mill levy during these preliminary work sessions.

What turned out to be an otherwise amiable budget session got off to a controversial start when Isaac said he thought the meetings to date had been largely unproductive.

He said council was locked in on a large portion of the budget, through previous commitments and with federal grants. On top of that, he said, there has been "minimum citizen input."

Isaac then recommended that council set the mill levy at 11 and get on with more problematical areas.

As one suggestion, he mentioned Memorial Hospital, which "is going to be one helluva problem" facing council before the final budget is adopted.

But Ochs and Brown said the budget sessions were valuable and educational. Dodge said he, too regretted the lack of citizen input and favored setting the mill levy today.

With preliminaries out of the way, council then went through the budgets of various administrative departments, the municipal court and traffic engineering.

DeWitt Miller, director of the Department of Public Works, said a Dec. 1 deadline is still the target for having traffic sig-

City To Reach 374,000 by 1980

The population of Colorado Springs is expected to reach 374,000 by 1980, according to a projection made by Sales Management magazine in its 1975 Survey of Buying Power, Part II issue.

This reflects a 21.7 percent growth between 1974 and 1980, the survey reveals, noting that it also represents the tenth-highest growth rate of a metropolitan area in the United States for the last half of the 1970s.

Sales Management, which is published bi-monthly for sales and marketing executives, has been issuing its Survey of Buying Power since 1929. Projections are based on data compiled from census figures and other reliable statistical sources.

Colorado Springs was tenth in a list of the 20 fastest growing metro markets. The only other Colorado city in the top 10 was Fort Collins, in fifth place.

Fort Myers, Fla., headed the list, followed by Sarasota, Orlando, Fort Lauderdale, Hollywood, all in Florida, then Fort Collins, Killeen - Temple, Tex., Tucson, Ariz.; West Palm Beach - Boca Raton and Tampa-St. Petersburg, both in Florida, then Colorado Springs.

Thayer C. Taylor, editorial director for the survey, pointed out a recent trend that surfaced in the early 1970s: the increased popularity of smaller markets.

Fourteen of the fastest growing markets in the survey have a population of less than 500,000," he noted. "Each decade puts its own stamp on population shifts. Only half of the markets shown were among the 20 fastest growing markets in the 1960 survey."

This was in reference to the fact that 14 of the 20 fastest growing metro markets are located in Florida, Texas and Arizona. This strong southward lean of metropolitan growth continues a trend that dominated in the 1960s.

This year's survey gives marketing executives current and six-year projections of population changes, effective buying income, and retail sales for 300 metropolitan markets.

In a lot of cities and towns this is election day, when voters decide which planners they prefer to mess things up for them. . .

From the lowest bookmaker to the highest book-burner, planners always are attempting to create a Utopia. And somehow, something always goes wrong when they get around to the actual practice of their planning.

The trouble with the Utopian planners is economic thinking. Individual liberties are tied directly to economic freedom.

With economic freedom, and affluent freedom follows the freedom of choice to work and live as you choose; a freedom to teach your children as you choose; a freedom of choice in religion, occupation and friends.

It was this basic foundation of freedom which in the past allowed so many to work their way up from the bottom to the top. Now, the frightening trend is cutting short this economic freedom and individual opportunity.

More and more we see the continuation of larger and larger centralized government, a concentration of Big Brother power in one location.

If the little feller does not act in an opposite direction then government committees will continue to spread like a cancerous growth, enveloping everything and everybody.

Government committee meetings don't drill for oil nor do government studies build ships or grow food or keep commerce rolling. Government has already reached the proportion to where it is defeating economic efficiency.

Remember that, when you are told you need more plans, and more planners. . .

Manitou Rejects Greenman Letter, Then Fires Him

The Manitou Springs City Council decided to fire Police Chief Harry F. Greenman, rather than to accept the resignation he tendered Friday, in a closed-door season Monday night.

Unofficial reports were that council had asked Greenman to withdraw his letter of resignation, then took action to remove him from his post.

City Manager G. Tracy Williams, whose job includes hiring and firing of city employes including the police chief, had passed Greenman's letter onto council for its consideration.

Neither Williams nor Mayor George Miller were available for comment today. Williams was reported to have prepared a statement, however, stating in part, "In my opinion, for a city department head to attack the city council in the news media with distorted facts because he does not receive what he wants is immature, unethical and certainly unprofessional."

The statement was in reference to Greenman's public criticism of the council on the subject of the polcie department budget for 1976.

The budget will be presented in public hearing for the first time at a special Wednesday meeting.

Greenman had objected publicly that the budget was insufficient to maintain even 24-hour patrol in Manitou Springs and blamed a rash of eight resignations of patrolmen and officers on the deficiencies of the budget.

Williams's statement rebutted those charges, saying, "The city council and I have not taken any action which would cause the recent unrest and turnover wit in the police department. It is clearly the chief's responsibility to keep his own shop in order."

Thomas Shoop Joins Chamber of Commerce

Thomas W. Shoop has been appointed manager of communications and governmental affairs for the Colorado Springs Chamber of Commerce, according to Charles Jolliff, executive vice president.

Shoop has been president of his own local consulting firm for four years, and formerly was in top management in industry.

He will be responsible for supervising communications, conventions and travel marketing, plus such governmental activities as city, county, PPACG, state, federal, streets and highways and transportation.

Prior to forming his own company, Shoop was executive vice president and director and later chairman of the board of Aircraft Mechanics Inc. He also has been vice president of Clifton Division, Litton Industries; vice president-sales and director of Clifton Precision Productions Co., and product sales manager, Minneapolis - Honeywell Regulator Co.

The post has been vacant for about a year, since Ken Phillips resigned to accept a job at Four Seasons.

Jolliff also announced the appointment of Mrs. Shirley Tornblom as co-ordinator of conventions and visitors, a job in which she has been acting since Phillips' resignation.

Shoop's appointment brings the chamber staff up to full strength for the first time in a year.

CURE Wants To Vacate Streets

The Colorado Springs Urban Renewal Effort (CURE) is scheduled to go before the City Planning Commission Thurday with requests to vacate, or close, two full blocks of Cucharras Street and the north half of a third block, in the heart of te Urban Renewal project.

While the planning department has given its approval to the plan, the traffic engineering department requested that actual closing of Cucharras to traffic in the two blocks not be accomplished until after Colorado Avenue is returned to two-way status, "probably next May."

Involved are the two blocks of Cucharras, between Nevada Avenue and Tejon Street and between Cascade Avenue and Sahwatch Street, plus the north half of Cucharras between Tejon and Cascade, immediatley north of the El Paso County Jail.

If the plan is approved eventually, which will be the ultimate responsibility of city council, it is being recommended that the 45-foot strip of Cucharras between Cascade and Tejon be limited to one-way traffic eastbound with no parking on the north side of the street.

The CURE requests are part of a 15-item agenda which will face the planning commission when it meets at 9:30 a.m. in council chambers at City Hall.

The first item of business, after minutes are approved, will find a piece of property familiar to city officials back on an agenda after an absence of more than 17 months.

The property, a 1.01 acre tract, was part of the Palmer Park Addition No. 12 which was annexed by Colorado Springs on March 12, 1974 after much controversy most of which was directed at proposed zoning rather than annexation itself.

The subject property, known as the DeSalle tract, was given a multi-family zoning with conditional use to permit a restaurant. But the conditional use was restricted to the owners and was not transferrable.

The property is located at the intersection of Jeannine Drive and Academy Boulevard. The owners are asking that the conditional use to allow construction of a restaurant be made transferrable so that the land can be sold. The planning department has recommended denial of the request.

Other items on Thursday's planning agenda include:

— Request by residents and-or owners of addresses 2606 through 2770 on North Prospect Street that the street be closed as a through street.

— Request of Pikes Peak Greenhouses, Inc., that a 1.7-acre tract on Wahsatch Avenue, both north and south of Fontanero Street, be rezoned from single-family residential to commercial (C-5).

— Request of Temple Baptist Church, contract purchaser, to have rezoned from agriculture and planned unit development to all agriculture a 24-acre tract north of Elmwood Drive and east of the Santa Fe Railroad tracks, to allow construction of a religious institution.

— Request of Donald W. Baldridge, contract purchaser, for a use variance in a planned industrial park, on five acres south of U.S. 24 and west of Powers Boulevard, to permit a tractor and equipment sales facility. Waivers on fencing and signs are also requested.

— Request of Hallando Program for conditional use in a multi-family zone to allow an educational institution and office facility northeast of Bijou Street and West View Place.

— Request of Hallando Program for a waiver which would permit provision for a parking area away from the principal building.

— Change of zone sought by the planning commission on .06 of an acre from residential to commercial (C-6), resolving the status of a strip of land involved when the Valley Hi Golf Course was sold to the city.

— Request of Swinger Properties for a zone change from planned business center to residential on 1.72 acres at the intersection of Jet Wing and Cita Drives.

— Preliminary and final plat of Eskanos Subdivision No. 2, a commercial zone on .32 of an acre southwest of Mallow Road and Mount View Lane.

— Request of C. Lee Goodbar for a conditional use to permit a restaurant in an Industrial zone on .53 of an acre at Fillmore and Tremont Streets.

— Consideration by the planning commission of Sections 57 and 58 of Senate Bill 135 which pre-empt Colorado Springs from prohibiting homes for not more than eight developmentally disabled persons in residential sections of the city.

— Consideration of the planning commission of an amendment to an ordinance to permit fences to be constructed of combustible materials.

— Consideration of an ordinance amendment to permit the director of aviation, on approval of the Airport Advisory Board and city council to carry out the airport master plan without submittnig requests for modifications to the planning commission.

"THE Maverick"

Dear Maverick:

This letter is to tell you about one of the great people we do have in our city. I am a clerk in the clerk & recorder's office, motor vehicle department. I had a customer come in early Friday morning and ask for another permit because he did not have any money till pay day. We could not give him a permit because his paperwork was processed in our office. I figured up the cost and he said he'd come back when he could get some money. The man standing next to him reached into his pocket and pulled out the money and said here, buy your license plates. He told him where he worked and to come over and pay him when he got the money.

Maverick, it was so great to know we do have people like this. It sure made my day. Mr. R. V. Tipton, I would like to personally thank you for this act of kindness and would like to tell it to all.

Gamma Phi Beta To Celebrate Founder's Day

The Colorado Springs alumnae chapter and Alpha Phi collegiate chapter of Gamma Phi Beta will meet at 6 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 11, to commemorate the 101st anniversary of the sorority's founding with a dinner at the Ent AFB Officers' Club.

Gamma Phi Beta was founded at Syracuse University in New York in 1874 and has grown to over 60,000 members in the U.S. and Canada. The sorority established the Gamma Phi Beta Foundation in 1958 which provides scholarships and fellowships for members, operates camps for underprivileged girls in Denver and Vancouver, Canada, and awards campership funds for local camps throughout the country.

The sorority also operates a "transister" service for members who must move, a house exchange program and a bed-and-breakfast plan for older members.

Husband, Wife Switch Lifestyles and Roles

NEW YORK AP — Dressed in a frilly white apron, scouring pad in hand, the dishwasher manages a brave little smile across the array of shiny pots and pans.

Mike McGrady's picture graces the cover of his book, "The Kitchen Sink Papers: My Life as a Househusband," a poignant, funny account of the year that he and his wife switched roles.

Corrine McGrady went out into the world to become the family wage earner. Mike stayed home to care for three children and tend the household chores.

He was 40 years old, a successful author and he masterminded the X-rated spoof "Naked Came the Stranger" and a newspaper columnist earning $36,000 a year. But McGrady quit it all for chauffeuring the children, aged 15, 13 and 11 to dentist appointments, rushing home in time to make dinner, vacuuming and ironing.

"I wanted desperately to stop doing the same thing every day of my life," said McGrady, a boyish, witty charmer.

"And I had always said that what I really needed was a wife," said the woman behind the man.

Corrine McGrady was already a businesswoman before the switch. She had been juggling her housewife duties with commitments to her spare time career as a jewelry and graphics designer and manufacturer of such plastic classics as a cook book stand and a salad bowl.

"I was going crazy from all the responsibilities but I managed," said Corrine, 37, a tiny dynamo with black hair piled on top of her head. "But I always had this vision of my not being a housewife. I hated the deadness of being confined. I wanted another slice of life. I wanted to be self-sufficent. Money is power, and I wanted my own."

Then that mid-life restlessness hit Mike. Corrine's business was bringing in about $10,000, and she encouraged the switch. She had no doubts about her ability to expand the business and provide for the family. And she was confident of her husband's talent at wielding egg beater and broom.

Their friends could not take the role change seriously. Mike was repeatedly asked what he was really doing that year.

"To men, it was the sacrifice of a precious birthright. To women, it was insanity," said Mike. "At parties, women loved me for about 8 minutes and then thought about the ramifications - that their job was so easy and so dumb, any guy could do it."

"In the beginning, I felt very lost and threatened," said Corrine. "I felt outside the framework of my friends. I didn't belong anymore. I was a heroine of sorts but their envy was combined with hostility."

Mike got a contract to do the book after he quit. He kept a diary of his troubles:

The provider coming home late without calling resulting in a ruined dinner. Mike sneaking off to the local bar for solace where he invariably ended up giving out recipes for steak Diane and mayonnaise. Mike feeling pangs of jealousy as Corrine casually recounts luxurious lunches at chic restaurants. Familiar family exchanges with a twist — "Your mother will speak to you about that when she comes home tonight . . . You never take me out anymore, Corrine ..."

Mike was a gourmet chef, producing such exotic dishes as Oysters Rockefeller, but he never did get the hang of housecleaning.

"I expected to come home to a well-ordered house. But it was in utter chaos most of the time," Corrine said. "I just couldn't kick off my shoes and forget about it because deep in my heart I still had that sense of responsibility about the house."

So Wednesday nights while Mike left for his basketball night off, Corrine tidied up. The experiment almost collapsed there.

"I felt he had not kept up his end of the bargain. I felt he didn't want to do it," Corrine said. "And then suddenly I realized no one would ever want to do it. He had never been conditioned to think that a spotless home was necessarily a good thing."

She was plagued with guilt when Mike slipped into occasional depressions about the monotony of his life.

But they survived.

Corrine found the children respected her more ."Before I was just a housewife, a second-class citizen. Now they're very proud of me and it's wonderful to be respected for the right reason: what I can do as a human being."

"The marriage is better than ever. We don't con each other," said Mike. "It's much harder to role play. I don't have to be the strong, silent provider."

"I don't have to be Mother Earth, and I will never take housekeeping seriously again. I will become a slob," said Corrine.

Holiday Turkey Costs More This Year

(AP) — The Thanksgiving turkey will gobble up a bigger part of the family food budget than it did last year, according to poultry experts who blame the higher prices on smaller supplies.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture reports that turkey producers who lost money last year, when the wholesale price of an 8- to 16-pound bird was about 46 cents a pound, cut back their flocks.

"Prices were very bad during 1974," said Bill Cathcart of the department's Economic Research Service. "Producers did not hold as many breeder hens."

Production for the first half of 1975 was 20 percent below levels of a year earlier. Wholesale prices picked up slightly and so did production, but the over-all supply is expected to be about 4 or 5 percent behind last year.

As of the beginning of September, there were 326 million pounds of turkey in warehouses ready for market. That was about 100 million pounds less than in 1974, but was above levels in other recent years.

During August, the price of turkey on the New York wholesale poultry market was about 58 cents a pound, according to the USDA. The retail price was about 75 cents a pound.

A USDA spokesman said prices declined slightly during September and October, but are expected to rise again during November, with retail prices in the neighborhood of 80 cents a pound, up about 10 cents or 14 percent from last year's levels.

Note: as Thanksgiving approaches, many stores offer specials on turkey and retail prices do not always accurately reflect wholesale levels. Shop around before you buy.

Most turkeys are marketed as frozen whole birds although boneless turkey breasts and rolls are available in some areas. Whole, ready-to-cook birds can range anywhere from 4 to 24 pounds or more.

Whole turkeys usually cost less per pound than boneless breasts or roasts and turkey pieces, but they provide fewer servings per pound.

All poultry is inspected by either the state or federal government. The inspection circle probably will appear on either the wrapper, wing tip, giblet wrap, package insert or label. Some poultry also carries a grade stamp. The USDA Grade A, in the form of a shield, indicates the bird is of the highest quality available.

How big a turkey to buy depends on how many people you plan to serve and whether you want leftovers. You can usually figure on a little more than two three-ounce servings per pound of whole turkey. You'll get a little more than three servings of the same size from a pound of boneless turkey roast.

Doc Says Walk, Don't Jog

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Walk, don't jog, to the nearest rubbish can with your girdles, support hose and high-heeled shoes, says a physician who specializes in keeping blood circulating.

Dr. Joseph Beninson of Detroit told a health seminar recently that jogging is hard on the spine, while poorly designed support garments squeeze blood vessels, making more work for the heart.

Only walking satisfactorily "promotes blood circulation," he said. "It is impossible to walk too much."

Beninson, 57, a specialist at Detroit's Henry Ford Hospital, said support garments are sold in standard sizes that are not reliably suitable to the individual shape of the purchaser's body.

"The good Lord forgot to make people large, medium and small," he said. "Use what God gave you without interfering."

High-heeled shoes "paralyze the calf muscles," and "pantygirdles put a tourniquet around your thigh," he said.

Beninson said walking is better exercise than jogging because of "less risk of damaging your back.

"When you jog, you come down on your heel and squash your back like an accordion," he said.

HINTS FROM Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Listen Folks:

Don't you just hate those pithy potatoes that grow eyes?

They seem to stare you in the face, saying, "Look, go buy some new ones."

When you see little white buds growing on potatoes, take your fingernail or a knife, and pop them off!

Your potato won't shrink and shrivel . . . and they will keep longer.

Try it. It works.

Test it this way yourself:

Save two potatoes from the same batch. Let one grow eyes, but keep the eyes scratched off the other one.

Leave them in your potato bin for a month or so . . . and see if I am right.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I'm 75 years old and have arthritis in my spine so it is difficult for me to stoop.

I got a little girl's dust mop with the long handle and I use that to dust where I have to stoop. This has helped me so much.

"Old" Reader

Dear Heloise:

My first apartment had all the great modern conveniences my husband and I wanted in our future home.

We labeled coffee cans "Washing Machine Fund," "Clothes Dryer Fund," "Dishwasher Fund," and deposited 25 cents per load of wash or dishes each time the appliance was used.

Our neighbors went one step further and deposited a dime everytime they used the stove.

If one has the willpower to keep depositing and not withdraw anything for "emergencies," a nest egg or two will build up sooner than you think!

Carol

Dear Heloise:

I keep two paper plates with my flour sifter and sift from one to the other.

The plates bend easily for pouring flour back into the sifter or for returning excess flour to its container. I've no idea from whence came this notion. Did I get it from you in the first place?

Mary Nelson

Probably so, doll, but it is such a good idea I thought it was worth repeating for some of our new readers.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

This is for those people who like to cook with garlic but hate to use a big chunk of it.

Remove both ends and the outside skin of any dry garlic bud and cut it in very tiny pieces.

I usually do this in a small wooden or crockery bowl that I save just for this.

Sprinkle lots of salt in the bowl with the garlic.

Now, this is where the magic starts. Using the end of anything wooden, like a screw driver or spatula, start smashing and stirring.

The garlic bud dissolves and it's now ready to be used in cooking salad oil!

Jerri Meyers

Jerri, I couldn't believe it, but I tried this and it works!

This is such a fantastic idea to use when making lasagna or spaghetti. No big chunks of garlic to bite into. God bless you . . .

Dear Abby

Husband Insists He's Irresistible

DEAR ABBY: My husband is either the world's biggest liar, or he must have something I'm not aware of.

George said he was through driving sitters home because they just won't leave him alone. He claimed the last one — a 16-year-old girl — practically attacked him in the car. (She's a Junior Achiever. Can you believe this?)

Another time, the minister's wife called and offered me some home-grown cucumbers. She said she had more than she knew what to do with, so I sent George over to get some.

When he came back he said the minister's wife tried to get him to "relax" on a mattress in her basement. Then she "begged" him to try some of her pineapple upside-down cake. He also claimed that, to prolong his stay, she handed him one cucumber at a time!

He's always telling me how women can't resist him. Believe me, Abby, he's nothing special.

Should I pretend to believe him, call him a liar or what?
— GEORGE'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: If George is making up these stories, he must feel the need to convince you (and perhaps himself) that he's desirable. If you call him a liar, you'll castrate him. Give his ego a boost instead, and he won't have to lie.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 14-year-old boy, and I'm in the 10th grade. I gave my girl friend a wrist watch for her birthday, which caused her parents and mine (especially hers) to become very upset.

Her parents seem to think it was an "engagement" present, and they made her give it back to me.

My parents weren't quite so harsh, but they think it was a little too much for a boy of my age group to give a girl friend.

Abby, I didn't give her the watch to symbolize anything. I just wanted to give her something nice, and she needed a watch. It was very inexpensive.

My girl friend was heartbroken when her parents made her return it, and my ego was somewhat pounded into the ground. I realize that we are not old enough to become seriously involved, but I do think she should have been able to keep it.

What do you think? Please be open-minded. — T.L.

DEAR T.L.: It's not the cost but the kind of gift your parents objected to. Jewelry and personal attire (at any price) are too intimate for 14 year olds.

DEAR ABBY: We own a dog that is always kept on a leash when he's put outside.

Our neighbor has cats that outside and onto our property. They tease our dog, causing him to bark until we put the cats back on their own property.

We have had anonymous phone calls informing us that our dog's barking is disturbing the entire neighborhood. Abby, if those cats didn't tantalize our dog, he wouldn't bark.

What do you suggest we do? We've complained to the cat owners, but they still turn their cats loose on our property.

FUMING

DEAR FUMING: Tell the cat owners that if their cats are found on your property, you will ring up the local pound. Then follow through. One "cat-astrophe" should do it.

Opening lead: King of ♥.

Many of us tend to relax when we have a very bad hand, assuming erroneously that we can have no influence on the outcome of a hand. A wide-awake East and a thoughful West combined to bring South to his knees on this hand from a rubber bridge game aboard a cruise ship.

Take note of South's jump to two spades over his partner's takeout double. Since he was being forced to bid, a response of one spade would promise no particular strength—indeed, the bid could be made with a bust. A jump response to a takeout double is not forcing; it merely shows a hand of some 9-11 points, and the doubler is allowed to pass if he acted originally on minimum values. Here, however, North was considerably stronger than he needed to be for his double, but since South might have only a four-card spade suit, North showed his extra values by bidding a new suit. When South rebid his spades, North was quite happy to go on to game.

West led the king of hearts, and when dummy came down the defensive prospects looked grim. Unless East held a singleton heart, it seemed that the defenders would be limited to two heart tricks and the ace of trumps. However, West realized that his nine of trumps offered some hope. If East held two trumps higher than the six, the defenders could accomplish a trump promotion.

At trick two West led the queen of hearts and, when that held, he continued with a low heart. Had East been lulled into carelessness because of his seemingly hopeless hand, he might have ruffed with the two, and the contract would have been impregnable. But East knew from the play of the first two tricks that West held the ace of hearts. Yet, instead of trying to cash that card, West had deliberately led a low card to dummy's jack. The only reason was that West wanted his partner to trump high, and East obliged with the seven.

Declarer overruffed, crossed to the king of clubs and led a spade to his queen. West won the ace and continued with hearts. Declarer did the best he could by ruffing with dummy's eight, but East overruffed with the ten, forcing declarer's king. The nine of trumps was now established as the setting trick.

Aid Drain Forever?

Nearly everyone knows that 'foreign aid" is a monumental boondoggle by which the taxpayers of this country are being pludered to prop up socialist governments, both of the "left" and of the "right," all over the world.

Nearly everyone know that "foreign aid," instead of buying us friends as its proponents claim, is insuring that we are thoroughly hated; with the intensity of that hatred, in any given country, being tied to the amount of "aid" received.

Nearly everyone knows that "foreign aid," rather than promoting peace, is being used to stoke the fires of war.

Nearly everyone knows that taxation, via which "foreign aid" funds are obtained, is nearing, if it has not already passed, the point of diminishing returns.

Nearly everyone knows that inflation, the secret way of taxing to which the government resorts when it no longer dares to increase taxes openly, is destroying the economy of this country, and that every dollar of foreign aid" hastens that destruction.

Nearly everyone knows that the economy of this country is starved for investment capital with which to expand, update its productive plants and provide more income-producing jobs, and that every dollar taxed out of the economy and given to foreign governments in the form of "aid" is a dollar less left for that critical function.

Yes, these facts, and more, about "foreign aid" are generally known by the people of this country; what's more, both the Administration and Congress are both well aware that they are known.

So, what do we get? A discontinuance or, at least, a drastic reduction, of the "foreign aid" boondoogle? Well, hardly.

According to the Wall Street Journal of October 31, President Ford has just asked Congress for $4.7 billion in "foreign aid" funds; an amount, more than double last year's "aid," which Congress isn't expected to cut much, if any.

Included in the President's request package, the Journal noted, are:

— $740 million in economic assistance, plus $1.5 billion in weapons credit, for Israel; a third of which the Israelis won't be expected to repay.

— $750 million to Egypt, whose president, Anwar Sadat, is visiting the U.S., in economic aid.

—$253 million to Jordan, including $175 million for military projects.

$90 million to Syria in economic aid.

— $205 million to Turkey, which recently closed U. S. bases.

— $160 million to Greece, Turkey's military adversary.

— $41 million for Ethiopia and Zaire.

— Plus $384 million for six other unnamed Asian governments.

What happened, one is inclined to ask, to the idea of a government "of the people, by the people, for the people"—of the U.S.A.?

Death March of the Dollar

By DR. HOWARD E. KERSHNER

In an effort to capsulize a sinister trend of events, I formulated an aphorsim which reads as follows:

"When a self-governing people empower their government to take money from some and give it to the others, the process will not stop until the last bone of the last taxpayer is picked bare."

In 1945, just 30 years ago, $5.7 billion was transferred from taxpayers to the beneficiaries of social security, welfare, unemployment, Medicare, and other programs. This amounted to 3c out of each $1 of personal income in the United States.

Ten years later, in 1955, the amount transferred in this manner was $16.1 billion, or 5c of each $1 of personal income.

Ten years after that, in 1965, the amount so transferred was $37.2 billion or 7c of each $1 of personal income.

During the current year, 1975, it is estimated that $177 billion will be transferred from taxpayers to beneficiaries above named. This will amount to 14c out of each $1 of personal income.

In 30 years, the amount transferred from some of our citizens to other citizens has risen from less than $6 billion to $177 billion and from 3c out of each dollar of personal income to 14c.

The above figures appear in the August 4, 1975, U.S. News and World Report and are taken from a report issued by the U.S. Department of Commerce.

Does anyone expect that this process is going to stop? The big bounce in transferring money from some to others has occurred during the last 3 prosperous years. If we can't stop it now, when can we? Today, the interest burden alone equals the entire annual federal budget outlay down to the middle of World War II.

To make matters worse, the income tax rebate last year added another $50 billion to the national debt. Will more debt improve our position? Now we are faced not only with running expenses as great or greater, but an extra $3 to $4 billion interest on the increased debt resulting from the refund.

Isn't the lesson of New York City enough? The debt was increased every year,hoping it would seem, for some windfall or magic that would wipe out the indebtedness. Will we go on increasing the federal debt, pay more interest, and higher taxes, with our minds closed to the fact that one day we must not only meet the operating expenses, but vastly swollen interest charges as well?

It is pleasant to increase salaries and pensions; to retire earlier, to have more holidays, more sick leave, privileges and benefits. Have we forgotten that the day of reckoning is coming?

Some cities and states are not yet bankrupt. Will they stop spending before they reach that sad state? Our nation is already bankrupt in the sense that it has used up three-quarters of the value of the dollar. Will we destroy the remaining quarter, or will we begin now to balance the budget? Can't we see the wolves of financial debt and disaster yapping at our heels?

Government transfer payments have increased 30-fold in 30 years. They are called "income" and are considered a part of the gross national product. They add nothing to the total wealth, but merely indicate that wealth has been taken from some citizens and given to others.

If I started paying my wife a well-deserved salary of $10,000 a year for keeping our home, that would add nothing to the wealth of the country, but it would increase the gross national product by that amount. We can put the gross national product almost as high as we want to by transferring wealth from one to another, but it adds nothing to the total store of wealth in our country. That's why it is unsound to measure increasing debt in terms of a percentage of the gross national product, we pave the way for pushing it to the skies while still maintaining a satisfactory percentage relationship to the gross national product.

We have had too much clever bookkeeping for our own good.

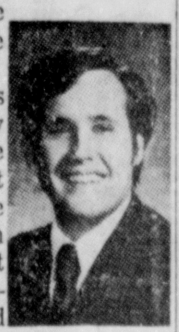
We have large numbers of students living on unemployment pay who should be working at some of the menial jobs available to them. Our newspapers are filled with want ads for which no workers are available. There are about 1200 advisory committees who are supposed to be advising the federal government on its farflung activities. They all cost money. Do we want to go further into debt to pay for these frills? If not, we'd better be demanding that our congressmen put an end to them.

We have marched the dollar three-quarters of the way to extinction. Unless we stop the march, the remaining quarter of the distance will be travelled much more quickly. Our public officials could do it if we demand it. The trouble is, we are not demanding it, but are seeking more handouts, juicy plums, increased benefits, and the whole package. The politicians give it to us rather than face defeat at the next election. This is the process by which we are picking the last bone of the last taxpayer bare.

Answer: city, state, nation and citizen live within our means.

'Foul Language'

By JOHN A. SPARKS, L.L.D.
An R.C. Hoiles Fellow
Hillsdale College



Sometimes, in the margin of a freshman theme filled with grammatical and spelling errors, I have written the desperate question, "Is English really your native language?" It seems to me that I am scribbling that insulting message more and more each year. That is no reflection on my college for among our students we have some of the best young scholars which American high schools graduate. Although there are fortunate exceptions, the unadorned truth is that the typical college-bound twelfth - grader is ill-prepared in written composition.

College teachers are not the only ones who have noticed the deterioration of writing skills. Speaking of applicants for newspaper jobs, one publisher said recently, "they lack a working knowledge of the English language." A recruiter for a major U.S. industrial firm confirmed the journalist's despair when he pleaded: "give us students who can write a good English sentence and we will do the rest."

Why has good writing become so rare among high schoolers taking a college - preparatory program? First, high schools have not insisted upon rigorous composition work. Many English teachers (not all) have allowed students to "express their opinions" orally when they should have required the pupils to perfect their writing. Others have regarded the improvement of composition and grammar as the responsibility of the late elementary teacher and certainly not that of the high school instructor. Moreover, in non-English courses the students face predominantly short answer tests — "true and false" and "multiple choice." Essay tests are less and less common, reducing still further the opportunities for composition.

There are other factors that have contributed to the decline of writing ability. The widened choice in course selection given high school students has allowed them to avoid the difficult courses that require written work. What is even more distressing, many students have come to believe that the written word will not be among the media of the future. Tapes, television and movies, are the media by which they expect to converse. Apparently there will be no "men of letters" only "men of tapes" according to this view.

However, the decay of the written word is part of the general decline of cultural and moral standards. In these fields we have come to expect carelessness of dress and grooming, casual sexual attitudes and a lack of respect for moral principles. Should we really be surprised to find, in the realm of language, carelessness of expression and spelling, casual attitudes toward usage and form, and lack of respect for the rules of punctuation?

Sound habits of written expression need to be nurtured once again. Otherwise we run the risk that our language will camouflage our errors rather than revealing them to us. As Orwell warned, "slovenliness of language makes it easier for us to have foolish thoughts." The fight for clear writing is well worth the effort. It is no less than a battle for the maintenance of truth and accuracy. Said Samuel Johnson: "We have long preserved our constitution; let us make some struggles for our language."

OPEN PARLIAMENT

The statements and opinions expressed in this column are those of the contributors and do not necessarily express opinions or convictions held by this newspaper. Letters will be published with only the writer's name; however, an address (and telephone number if possible) will be required with each letter for verification purposes. Letters must be received at least two days before publication, and every effort should be made to limit letters to 500 words.

THE MONUMENT HOSPITAL

Free enterprise was the magic which built this USA into a great nation. The magic was that government funds (taxpayers' monies) were not expected nor offered, and that government then did not fight the progressive ideas of self-reliant folks.

When the Federal Government forces state legislatures to pass laws, which can restrict people from using their own money to help people, it goes contrary to those plans our forefathers made to benefit all citizens. Such laws do not help anyone. They cause obstacles which may kill a project and sicken a community spirit.

These obstacles are now faced by enterprising Monument - Palmer Lake - Woodmoor residents who wish to build a 25-50 bed hospital. They will pay for it with their own funds and do not seek any money from taxpayers. But they have been denied permission by the local Health Planning Council which contends that small hospitals have low occupancy.

Proof that low occupancy need not be a worry was furnished by people in a Wisconsin town of under 1,000 population, during depths of the 1930s depression. They built a hospital as close as 18 and 25 miles to two others.

Dissenters argued that most residents couldn't afford such care and others wouldn't use it if they could. They insisted that it would fail. But determined souls raised the funds and it was a great success. It later became a nursing home when a much larger hospital was built. The two other nearby health facilities continue to flourish.

There is sound belief that the same success will result if the Rampart General Hospital is approved by the State Facilities Council which meets on the matter this Thursday. It will serve the large territory of Northern El Paso county, including Castle Rock, in which there are no hospitals for civilians. That is why Council members have a most serious responsibility when the people bring their appeal before them.

Such a hospital will provide the sick with mental comfort, will increase their desire for physical recovery, in the knowledge that they are closer to their homes. It will save lives of the aged and of accident victims unable to stand long distance transportation. These facts were also proven by that little Wisconsin town with its new hospital.

Those with power to approve can bring to reality this humanitarian effort to prolong life for people. They need not worry about possibility of overbedding or competition with other hospitals.

The saving of lives is the important decision which is before the board.

PRODUCT OF THE SYSTEM

My fourth eldest son returned from his first year of college this spring and his reading has improved considerable. I have hopes he will be able to read after four years of college.

To the readers: This is a satire against our public school system, not my son.

I have never had him to a head shrinker but, of course, being prejudiced, I believe he is perfectly normal.

PATRICIA HURLEY ON SECRET DIPLOMACY

Not so long ago, under President Wilson, we went to war to make the world "safe for Democracy" Then FDR sent our armies to battle in the "war to end all wars." We then reluctantly waged war against North Korea and Chinese troops in a cold war to insure peaceful coexistence. In Vietnam, we forfeited the lives of over 50,000 men in a no-win war to stem communist aggression and preserve peace.

In between these wars, we provided Lend Lease, and foreign aid and now are giving more grain, building truck factories, assisting Russia's buildup of military strength while we disarm ourselves. This is "detente" — all in the name of peace! Peace "communist style," which means no resistance to atheistic communism and it's conquest of the world.

Why did our leaders give Southeast Asia to the communists?

Why is our government trying to give away our Panama Canal?

Why are we planning millions of dollars of trade with communist Red China, producer of 80 percent of the world's heroin?

Why are we now beginning to recognize Castro's communist regime?

Why do we keep building up our communist enemies and, yet, reduce our own military capabilities?

Does it make sense to you? It doesn't to most thinking Americans. If you would like to get some honest answers, attend a coming speech by Patricia Hurley at the Four Seasons Motor Inn, Thursday, November 13, 8:00 p.m., sponsored by our local chapters of the John Birch Society. She will review the secret international agreements entered into by America without the people's knowledge. She will discuss and offer solid solutions to our disastrous foreign policy.

Her father was the late General Patrick Hurley, Secretary of War and Ambassador to China under FDR. She has a real story to tell, having been her father's personal confidant, with complete access to his correspondence and records.

IWY GETTING SECRET GRANTS

On April 2, 1975, President Ford appointed the National Commission on International Women's Year. It had 35 members (all lib) and they requested an appropriation of $3.5 million. However, they did not wait for this money. They opened an office in the State Dept., hired 13 employees, and proceeded to operate on secret grants from other federal Departments (State Dept. $50,000; HEW $125,000; Transportation $35,000; Interior $20,000; Justice $10,000; etc.).

At this time, there is a bill introduced by Bella Abzug — HR9924 —asking for $2 million for the Commission on IWY. Frank Evans from our area has voted for this bill.

Aside from the fact that this commission does not represent women, but only the "lib," — at their first meeting April 15, 1975, they pledged to give top priority to ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment. The majority of people now realize ERA has nothing to offer. Employment was taken care of by Equal Employment Opportunity Act of 1972; Education by the Education Amendments of 1972 as implemented by HEW regulations of 1974, and Credit by the Depository Institutions Amendments Act of 1974. It's not a matter of law but law enforcement.

There seems to be an unending endeavor to force ERA on us and make us foot the bill taxwise as per HR9924.

LEGAL PLUNDER

"But how is this legal plunder to be identified? Quite simply. See if the law takes from some persons what belongs to them, and gives it to other persons to whom it does not belong. See if the law benefits one citizen at the expense of another by doing what the citizen himself cannot do without committing a crime."-Frederic Bastiat, "The Law," 1850

Astrological Forecast

WEDNESDAY'S FORECAST

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Confusing, illusive, or deceptive conditions can be adverse for you now, so stick to what has proved successful, proper and conventional, and you achieve much of value. Think out ways to place your future on a better planned basis, and you make big strides forward.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Concentrate on getting your present aims working more efficiently, instead of jumping into some new venture you know little about.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Make plans privately, otherwise others could gain at your expense. Carry through in a methodical manner. Co-operate more with mate.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Good day to state your own aims with partners, listen to theirs. Then you operate together more ideally. Sociable p.m.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Listen to what others have to say about some new venture you have in mind. Profit by their ideas and get needed information.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Get into the right kind of amusements if you really want to enjoy yourself today, and steer clear of danger. Avoid cheap thrills.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Keep any promises you have made and do not go against the wishes of family. Be more affectionate with mate. Take no financial chances.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Rely more upon what associates have to say instead of listening so much to outsiders and you have better results. Reach for higher things.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Instead of worrying about the monetary side of your job so much, find the right new wrinkle that will make it better paying.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Test your ideas against your best judgment today instead of using intuition. Go for advice to those who have succeeded.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Expand into better paying and more interesting new outlets. You can handle necessary routines later. Enjoy socials in p.m.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Not a good day to handle monetary affairs since you could make serious mistakes, but fine for strengthening bonds with valuable friends.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Important to keep promises made to others, especially higher-ups. Study own ideas to decide whether they're as worthwhile as you think.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . He or she will be a born philosopher and should be given ample religious and ethical training to make the most of this wonderful quality. Give as fine a college training as you can, stressing both logic and reasoning, and then your progeny can reach the pinnacle of success and be a source of great inspiration to others. A fine sport in this chart and lover of humanity.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Rams Rout Eagles On Harris' Passes

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Shades of comedian Rodney Dangerfield.

Philadelphia showed Los Angeles Rams quarterback James Harris and wide receiver Harold Jackson no respect and it cost the Eagles dearly.

Harris explained it after the Rams humiliated the Eagles 42-3 Monday night before 64,601 booing home fans—and millions who must have turned off the Football League game before it was three-quarters over. nationally televised National

"We thought they weren't respecting Harold," Harris said. "They were just squatting on him, letting him go. We tried to earn a little respect by going long."

Boy, did they earn respect. Before Harris stopped his bombing, he had thrown three touchdown passes, 54 and 30 yards to Jackson and 42 yards to Jack Snow. He completed 10 of 20 tosses for 207 yards.

Jackson said he called his first touchdown play.

"On the previous series, Johnny Outlaw (the Eagles' cornerback) just sat there on me. I said to James, 'Look, I can beat my man on straight go patterns,' and I did with a little outside move. Outlaw was looking for me to go deep inside."

Jackson made a joking reference to the Rams' tendency to ram the ball down an opponent's throat rather than pass it over their heads.

"I usually don't see that many passes," said the wide receiver, who was dealt to Los Angeles by the Eagles in the trade for quarterback Roman Gabriel after the 1972 season. "I know I'd better catch them when I do—or I won't see them again." He caught three for 91 yards.

The game was simply a laughter forthe Rams, who won their sixth straight since losing their season opener to Dallas. Los Angeles, a pre-season favorite to reach the Super Bowl, now leads the National Conference West by four games with only half the season yet to play.

Defensive end Fred Dryer, who ran 20 yards for a touchdown with a third-quarter Gabriel fumble, put the rout in its proper perspective when he said: "It wasn't any fun. It was too easy."

Dryer wasn't very kind to the losers. He said some of the Eagles quit. "I empathize with those guys," Dryer began. "But when you lose like they are, obviously something is wrong. They have half the season to correct mistakes. Some quit, some didn't."

Eagles' Coach Mike McCormack, whose job is in jeopardy, was distraught.

The tight-lipped McCormack told post game interviewers: "Gentlemen, this is going to be short and sweet. We got our butts kicked by a very good football team . . . We didn't seem to do anything right. We couldn't execute our offense. It was a total collapse. That's the way it looked to me."

Davis Heads North With $ Million

TORONTO (AP) — Anthony Davis, one of the most-wanted men in the now-defunct World Football League, found himself wanted north of the border, too. He carried a million-dollar price tag on his head . . . and on Monday, the Canadians got their man.

The Toronto Argonauts of the Canadian Football League, a team without a championship for 23 years, signed the flashy 5-foot-9, 190-pound running back and occasional pass-catcher who had been among the few bright spots in the WFL.

Argos' owner Bill Hodgson, who would have undoubtedly outbid the New York Jets of the National Football League for Davis' services, called the deal "a million-dollar, mutli-year contract." Davis clarified it a bit, saying it was a five-year pact.

He came to terms with Hodgson over the weekend. "I decided on Toronto," Davis said, "because, when I came up here a couple of weeks ago, I really liked the people. Everybody I met made me feel I was wanted."

The wider, longer CFL field and the more wide-open game also give him a better chance to display his breakaway talents. "It was the first time I had been to Canada and only the second time I had watched a game from the stands," he said of that recent visit. "I liked the rules . . . I really think it is suited to a player like myself. The Canadian game can be really exciting."

Davis was the Jets' second-round pick in last January's collegiate draft. But Davis opted to stay in his own backyard. After starring for the University of Southern California, he signed with the WFL's Southern California Sun.

After 12 games, he led the league in scoring, had rushed for 1,200 yards—400 more than the nearest pursurer — and had caught 54 passes. But after 12 games, the WFL succumbed to fan apathy and mounting bills and folded.

That made Davis eligible to join the Jets—but not until next year. NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle, wishing to avoid potential legal entanglements over the availability of players, prohibited the signing of any WFL talent except for nine players who had filed a suit to overturn the ban.

But the Jets, who have a wealth of running backs, didn't seem too interested in shelling out a lot of cash to add Davis to the list.

Nevertheless, the Argos and the rest of the CFL will also have to wait until next year before Davis gets his chance to wow the crowds.

Toronto, which finished 5-10-1 in the Eastern Conference, was eliminated from the CFL playoffs with a 26-10 loss to Hamilton. Had the Argos beaten the Tiger-Cats, Davis would have played next Sunday against Montreal—and he would have been matched against the Alouettes' own flash, Johnny Rodgers.

"Johnny's a great athlete," Davis said of the one-time Nebraska sensation, "and I was really disappointed when I found out Toronto had lost to Hamilton."

Squires Cut Coach Bianchi

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Al Bianchi, fired as coach of the Virginai Squires of the American Basketball Association, says his wife "saw the handwriting on the wall when the club changed uniform colors last year."

But the dismissal Monday night of the only coach the Squires had in their five years came more than a year after the team went from red, white and blue to brown, orange and scarlet.

Bianchi, in his 18th season as either a player or coach in the pro ranks, turned down last year a chance to coach the Kentucky Colonels. Virginia wound up with a 15-69 record, worst in ABA history.

Hit by injuries to all-stars Mack Calvin and Mike Green, obtained in a trade with the Denver Nuggets, the Squires began this season by losing six of their first seven starts.

"The owners and management of the club felt a coaching change was necessary," General Manager Jack Ankerson said in announcing the firing. "We will begin a search immediately for a successor."

In the meantime, the Squires will be coached on an interim basis by Calvin, who injured a knee in the third exhibition game and is expected to be out of action at least until December.

"I really wasn't expecting it, but in this business, when things go wrong, they fire the coach and not the players," said Bianchi.

With two years left on a three-year contract reportedly paying him about $60,000 a year, Bianchi said he had no immediate plans.

"I'm going to hang around and see what happens," said Bianchi, who indicated he would decide in the next two months whether he wanted just to sit around or get involved in basketball again.

"I hope they are very successful—the club and whoever takes the job."

But the fiery Bianchi, who probably drew as many technical fouls as any coach in the league, couldn't resist one little dig.

"I hope they sell a lot of sandwiches," Bianchi said.

The Squires' majority owner, Van Cunningham, is owner of a sandwich company.

Despite a five-year 185-235 record with the Squires, Bianchi led Virginia to the regular season Eastern Division championship in 1970-71.

Bianchi coached the Washington Capitals in 1969-70 and came here when Earl Foreman moved the ABA franchise to Virginia. But the Foreman years were frustrating.

Rick Barry refused to move with the franchise, and Charlie Scott jumped to the National Basketball Association. In later years, financial problems forced Foreman to dispose of such stars as Julius Erving, Swen Nater and George Gervin.

Before coming to the ABA, Bianchi coached the Seattle Super-Sonic of the NBA two years and had an eight-year pro record of 282-386. He formerly had played with the NBA Syracuse Nationals and Philadelphia 76ers.

"If I had any hard feelings, I wouldn't tell you because you know my stock line, 'the world is round,'" said Bianchi. "When you win, you got to get up to that, and when you're down, you got to get up to that, too."

GETS THE AXE — Al Bianchi, the only coach the Virginia Squires have had in their five year American Basketball Association history, was fired Monday. Ex-Denver Nuggett Mack Calvin will be the new interim coach. (AP Wirephoto)

Hornets Feel Sting Of Fold

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — The Charlotte Hornets of the defunct World Football League plans to pay creditors owed more than $400. 30per cent of the debt or $400, whichever is greater.

The Hornets filed a bankruptcy payment plan in U.S. District Court here Monday.

The plan earmarks $10,000 to pay back ticket holders. That amounts to as little as 57 cents per ticket, if the holders go to court for the money.

Kennedy, Salida Keep On Rolling

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Denver Kennedy just keeps rolling along—in its winning streak and in the eyes of Associated Press member pollsters.

The Kennedy Commanders whipped Denver Lincoln 20-6 last week to run their victory streak to 21 games and stay atop the weekly AP Class AAA high school football poll.

Salida remained on top of the Class AA poll while Hayden remained the top choice in Class A eleven-man football and Mountain Valley in Class A eight-man football.

Kennedy captured 17 of the 21 ballots cast in this week's poll, good for 196 points to keep a comfortable lead over Cherry Creek. Fruita had four first-place votes, but didn't receive a single second-place ballot and remained in third place.

The only shakeup from last week's poll had Lakewood, a 21-15 loser to Green Mountain, dropping out of the Top 10, from its eighth-place showing of last week. Pueblo South moved up a notch to eighth, Denver Lincoln moved from 10th to ninth, and Widefield moved into the top 10.

Fourth through seventh places once again were held by Northglenn, Boulder Fairview, Grand Junction and Colorado Springs Mitchell.

Salida, which trounced Lake County 76-0 last week, claimed all 19 of the Class AA ballots. And Brush, a 46-14 victor over Akron, was nearly as unanimous in second place. Glenwood Springs held on to third place, followed by Sanford, Las Animas and Crowley County.

But last week's seventh place team, Holy Family dropped out of the Top 10 following a 40-0 loss at the hands of Sheridan and seventh was taken by Manitou Springs, up a notch from last week.

Paonia moved up to eighth, from ninth last week, Olathe moved up a notch to ninth, and Sheridan moved into the Top 10.

Hayden was given 18 of the 19 first place votes in Class A eleven-man football to retain the top spot after whipping the Rifle junior varsity team 83-20 last week. Haxtun jumped a place, from third to second, after edging Caliche 19-14 and Caliche dropped to fourth. Cheyenne Wells used a 20-0 victory over Limon to move from fifth to third and Limon dropped from fourth to fifth.

Mountain Valley, a 65-0 victor over Aguilar, earned 16 of the 18 first place votes in Class A eight-man. Third-place Granada, idle last week, had the other two first place votes to keep last week's position. Second place remained with Flagler, a 51-14 victory over Hi-Plains.

Last week's fourth-place team, Woodlin, dropped out of the Top Five after losing 32-16 to Arickaree and fifth-place Hugo dropped out following a 34-14 defeat by Calhan. Sangre de Cristo, idle last week, moved into fourth place and Arickaree claimed fifth place.

CC Team Did 'Everything Right' -- Carle

By JOE NAVARRO
Gazette Telegraph
Sports Writer

"We did almost everything right —carried the game to them and we whopped them," said Colorado College head football coach Jerry Carle about the Tigers' game against Washington (Mo.) University.

The Tigers improved their record to 6-1-1 while a tough Battling Bears squad fell to 3-4 in the game which saw CC win 34-14 for the first time on the Bears' field.

"Washington was a good football team," he said. "They were ready for us and we're high as a kite. Someone told me that Washington had the best week of practice they have had in two years.

"Washington looked at films of Colorado College, had reports and had a good look at everything we have done.

"They (Washington) were shocked. Everything considered, they never thought they were going to get blown out of the game."

The Tigers racked up 308 yards passing and 140 rushing compared to the Bears' 141 rushing and 166 passing.

CC was led by Steve Dye's three touchdowns which came on a 13 yard run and from 77 and 49 yard passes from tailback Mark Buchanan.

Kicker Ted Swan added two field goals from 34 and 37 yards plus four extra points. Buchanan caught a reception from Dave Hall which covered 80 yards for an additional touchdown.

"Our kids were ready to play," said Carle. "We had efforts from just about everyone. We had some good long plays. Sometimes, in other games, you try some plays which don't work. Against Washington they worked."

Probably the biggest play was Buchanan's score.

"It was about 80 yards," said Carle. "Washington was challenging just before this. We faked a quick kick, faked the reverse and everyone in the stands was yelling 'reverse, reverse,' and we came back with the screen pass just perfectly from Dave Hall to Buchanan.

Buchanan did a great job of running. That play was certainly a big boost for us and it took the wind out of Washington's sails."

Dye had a "great day", according to Carle.

"He ran for 152 yards," he said. "Dye, Quinn Fox and Dave Hall all had a good day. Fox and Hall just drilled Washington time after time, after time."

Colorado College faces Kansas Wesleyan in its season finale Saturday at Washburn Field at 1 p.m. It is also CC's Homecoming and Parents Day.

"We're going to go all out against Wesleyan," said Carle "We can't afford to have a letdown and we could have a tendency to bask in the glory of what we accomplished last week.

"Quite frankly this is the best Wesleyan team in quite a while. Wesleyan defeated Bethany 21-7, and lost to St. Mary 26-21, so we have to take this game very seriously."

Falcon Rifle Squad Wins Six Team Meet

Air Force's rifle team won a six team meet at Colorado University with Paul Sutluff and Bruce Lambert taking the top two individual spots.

Air Force had 2179 points with CU second with 2110. Colorado State shot a 2033, Wyoming 2032, Southern Colorado 1990 and Colorado Mines 1972.

Sutluff scored a 560 out of a possible 600. Lambert had a 556.

Rosebush Guides Falcon JV to Win

Quarterback Russ Rosebush passed for 93 yards and tailback Jon Hyde ran for 68 more to lead the Air Force Academy junior varsity football team to a 23-7 victory over Wyoming's reserves Monday at the Falcons home field.

Rosebush, a graduate of Cheyenne Mountain High School, hit several key passes while engineering the Cadets to three touchdown drives.

After a 47 yard field goal by Tim Hoy blocked a Wyoming punt and took over on the Cowboys 13. A few plays later halfback Jeff Forster banged in a touchdown from the one with 13:27 left in the first half.

In the third quarter the Falcons capitalized quickly on a Wyoming fumble, recovered by Mark Cerise at the Pokes 32 yard line.

Rosebush hit splitend Joe Bunecke on a 20 yard pass to set up Jim Hoida's two yard touchdown run.

The third Air Force touchdown drive came after another Wyoming fumble on the Falcons 33. Bruce Cook made the recovery. Rosebush mixed a fine combination of running and passing Jon Hyde going 10 yards for the score.

The Cowboys finally got on the scoreboard late in the fourth quarter when quarterback Marc Cousins hit spit end Vic Baginski, a Wasson High product, on a 27 yard touchdown pass.

Rosebush completed 8 of 15 for 93 yards. Leading rushers for the Falcons were Hoida with 52 yards on 15 carries and Hyde with 68 yards on eight attempts.

"We're very pleased with our kids this year," said Air Force coach Jim Bowman. Righfully so. The Falcons are undefeated in five starts and had never been scored on until Wyoming.

"Our local boys have been doing a fine job," said Bowman meaning Larry Lathrop from Palmer, Ron Pointer from Widefield and Mark Cerise and Rosebush from Cheyenne Mountain.

The Cadets will meet the Air Force Academy Prep School at 1 p.m. Monday at Falcon Stdium.

BoSox Revamp Fenway Park

BOSTON (AP) — Most baseball fans like it just the way it is, but the Boston Red Sox have decided that some minor changes are in order for Fenway Park.

The park's short, 37-foot high left field wall, known as the Green Monster, will get a new covering, a protective padding will be placed along it and part of the center field wall, and a new electronic scoreboard will be installed above the center field bleachers.

The tin covering the concrete left field wall will be replaced with a metal alloy, presumably green, a 2-inch thick padding will be placed along the wall, 1½ feet from the base to 7½ high, extending from the left foul line to the 420-foot mark in right center.

The new scoreboard will be able to transmit pictures within the ball park.

General Manager Dick O'Connell said the protective padding "was planned long before Fred Lynn hit the wall. I'm sure it will change the bounce of the ball off the wall."

Lynn, the American League's Rookie of the Year, was injured slightly during the sixth game of the World Series when he crashed into the center field wall chasing a fly ball.

Lambert's Goals Sink Sabres

MONTREAL (AP) — Yvon Lambert took the shots. Jerry Korab and Gerry Desjardins had to bite the bullets.

Lambert got a couple of handy deflections in the final four minutes for two quick goals that gave the Montreal Canadiens a 3-2 victory over Buffalo in Monday night's lone National Hockey League game. The World Hockey Association was idle.

Desjardins, the Sabres' goalie, had an outstanding performance going and Buffalo had a 2-1 lead when, at 16:44 of the third period, Lambert fired from a sharp angle.

The puck struck the stick of Korab, a Sabres' defenseman, and ricocheted into the net. "When I got the tying goal, I said, 'Gee, some nights you're really lucky,'" Lambert reflected. "I tried to pass it in front and it hit Korab's stick and it went in."

Just 73 seconds later, Lambert struck again. "I saw the top corner well," he said. "I tried to keep cool. I think the puck hit Desjardins' stick. I just shot it right away because I knew I had that side."

Desjardins was still wondering after the game exactly how the puck got by him. "It hit somebody—I guess it hit me," he said. "I was going across the net. Those things happen."

Lambert's goals gave him nine in his last five games and 10 for the season. He had 32 last year after a six-goal rookie season in 1973-74. Lambert attributed his scoring to added confidence.

"I'm shooting more this year and I'm getting more confident," he said. "I don't allow mistakes to bother me now. I don't like them—but I don't get worried and I'm not afraid to make them."

Gil Perreault gave the Sabres the lead at 5:36 of the first period and Jacques Richard made it 2-0 at 18:47 of the second with a drive off the pads of Montreal goaltender Ken Dryden. The Canadiens came back 20 seconds later when Jimmy Roberts took a goalmouth pass from Pete Mahovlich and scored from 10 feet out.

Oklahoma State Bowl Bid Hinges on Win Over Buffs

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP)— If Oklahoma State entertains any hopes of a post-season bowl bid, the Cowboys must win this Saturday when they travel to Boulder to take on the Colorado Buffaloes.

"If we win at Colorado, it increases our chances greatly," Cowboy coach Jim Stanley said Monday of the Pokes' post-season bowl prospects. "But if we lose, it reduces our chances to zero."

Stanley recalled Colorado's only two losses were to unbeaten Nebraska and Oklahoma. The Pokes stand 5-3 on the year and 1-3 in the Big Eight.

Oklahoma State received a thorough waxing, 37-20, by the Buffs last year in Stillwater, but Stanley said revenge would not be the overriding incentive in the game for the Cowboys—the bowl picture would.

Turning to last Saturday's game, Stanley said: "We lost to a good team (Oklahoma). There aren't many things good you can find in defeat, but I thought we played very well. Our wide receivers played their best game of the year, both catching and blocking."

Other Cowboys praised by Stanley included Terry Miller. "He played very well considering often he had to fight to get to the line of scrimmage," Stanley said.

He also said offensive linemen Darrel Gofourth and Gary Choulber "played winning football, they were outstanding."

No personnel changes are in store for the Colorado game, he said, with only offensive guard Bob Ringwald sidelined with injuries.

He said soph Scott Burk is the likely starter at quarterback. Former starter Charlie Weatherbie should be healthy in a backup role after a neck injury against Oklahoma.

"I put Charlie in against OU because I thought a change would spark us a little bit at that time," Stanley said. "He threw well at times. He also got hit as hard as I've seen a player get hit when he was injured.

"I can't say Burk played as well as he has. Of course, OU didn't give us the opportunities like we had at Kansas. Scott took a real shot early and I think this might have affected his performance."

A hot scramble is still on between juniors Donnie Edwards and John Weimer for one starting linebacker spot, while freshman Gary Irions still holds a slight edge over soph Willie Lester at one cornerback slot. "All will be seeing action," Stanley said.

"Colorado got off their game plan in the first half against Iowa State," said Stanley about the Buffs 28-27 comeback win last Saturday. "But they got on track in the second half and put together a pair of 98-yard drives. They're a fine offensive unit with plenty of skilled people on defense."

Indiana Cagers Defense Touring Russian Nationals

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Listening to Coach Bobby Knight describe Indiana University's 94-78 victory over the touring Russian national basketball team, you would never have known Scott May scored 34 points or that the Hoosiers shot 51 per cent.

You might not have suspected that Indiana scored at all against the Soviet Union squad Monday night.

"Defense," said Knight, "is the key to our team. It's what wins ball games. Offense is just something you do at the other end of the court.

"When you're playing sharp defense, it opens things up offensively."

Indiana played 10 minutes of brilliant defense at the start of the second half, limiting the Russians to seven points and increasing its 48-42 halftime lead to 79-49.

May, a first-team All-American forward, returned to the starting line-up for the first time since he broke his left arm late last season and displayed a 13-for-15 shooting performance.

But May also credited the defense with the victory. "Defense turned the game our way in the second half. We tried to pressure them and to keep the ball away from them."

Soviet Coach Vladimir Kondrashin agreed. "They play defense better than they play offense. The whole team plays better when number 42 (May) is in there."

The Hoosiers, who were top-ranked and undefeated in 30 games last season before losing 94-92 to Kentucky in the quarter-finals of the NCAA tournament, were impressive against a team similar to the one that won the controversial 1972 Olympic finals at Munich.

Knight wasn't willing to compare this year's team to last year's—at least not yet. But the Russian coach, whose team lost the opener of its current 11-game tour, 67-56 to Marquette early Sunday morning, offered a comparison of his own.

"Indiana is 20 points better than Marquette," Kondrashin said through an interpreter. "If we played Sunday as we played tonight we would have beaten Marquette."

The Hoosiers have four of five starters back from last year's squad, including the backcourt duo of Quinn Buckner and Bob Wilkerson, and are expected to challenge once more for the national title.

They'll get an idea of how good they are when they open their regular season in a nationally televised game against the defending NCAA chmpions, UCLA.

McNelly Knocks Off PPA

By RAY ABEYTA

McNelly's Ray Armstrong caught a 26-yard touchdown pass with 2:29 left in the game and then McNelly's defense stopped the Police Protective Association (PPA) at the McNelly's one-foot line on fourth down to lift McNelly' construction to a come-from-behind 18-13 victory over Wednesday at Memorial Park.

McNelly's now moves into the Toy Bowl game against the Ft. Carson champions for the second straight year. The Toy Bowl will be held Nov. 20 at Berry Stadium.

Armstrong made his clutch catch despite perfect coverage by PPA safety Neil Starkey. Starkey stayed with Armstrong step for step but when the two players went up for the ball Armstrong came down with it.

The game however, wasn't over by any means.

PPA took over following the score and drove to McNelly's one-foot line.

Running back Mike Mark appeared to have scored on a third down play from the two. But after a lengthy discussion the officials ruled Mark had been stopped at the one-foot line.

On fourth down, Mark tried the right side of the line but McNelly's defensive tackle Ed Kowalski stopped him for no gain as time ran out.

"The Police were tough. I don't think we'll play a tougher team than the Police," an elated Armstrong said. "They stuck it to us but we were ready to play."

McNelly's had golden opportunities to score prior to Armstrong's winning catch but penalties stopped them.

Early in the fourth quarter McNelly's safety Bob Wessels intercepted his second pass of the game and returned it to the PPA 10-yard line.

But clipping and a misconduct penalties moved the ball back to the 40-yard line. McNelly's couldn't recover from the setback and was forced to punt.

McNelly's took an early 6-0 lead on halfback Orlando Lucero's three-yard run. Wessels first interception of the game set up the score.

PPA went ahead in the second quarter on a 25-yard pass from quarterback Ed Bachman to Starkey. Bachman's toss to Bill Murray on the extra point gave PPA a 7-6 lead.

PPA increased its lead to 13-6 midway through the second period. Another Bachman 25-yard pass, this time to Murray, got the touchdown. PPA had a chance to apply the knockout punch just before halftime. But another goal-line stand by McNelly's thwarted the attempt.

PPA defensive back Craig Baer intercepted a pass and raced to McNelly's one-yard line as the half ended. A personal foul on McNelly's prolonged the half for one play. Bachman's pass into the end zone was knocked down.

HEAVY RUSH — McNelly's Construction's Joe Rodwell (13) and Ed Kowalski (55) apply a heavy rush on Police Protective Association quarterback Ed Bachman during second quarter action in the City Flag Football Championship playoff game. McNelly's came from behind to beat PPA 18-13 to average an earlier defeat to PPA.

Bean, Stroble Share Golf Lead

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Andy Bean, a former University of Florida golf star who turned pro just three weeks ago, and Bobby Stroble of New Albany, Ga., share the lead going into today's second round in the PGA Fall Qualifying School.

Bean, Western Amateur champion from Lakeland, Fla., and Stroble, a 32-year-old unattached professional, both shot five-under-par 67s Monday.

Some 375 golfers are competing in the six-day, 108-hole tournament at two Disney World courses and at nearby Cypress Golf Club. They are vying for the right to attempt to qualify for PGA tournaments in 1976.

CSU Preparing For UTEP Tilt

FORT COLLINS (AP) — The Coolrado State University football team returned to the practice field Monday to prepare for Saturday night's game against the University of Texas-El Paso in El Paso.

Both teams emerged from their weekend games as losers. The Rams lost to Tennessee, 28-7, and New Mexico defeated UTEP, 23-3.

Coach Sark Arslanian said it will be back to the basics for his players this week.

"We have been making mistakes that may be caused by fundamental weaknesses," he said. "This week we'll go back to basic blocking and tackling."

Top Dog Tests RMKC Peak Course

If any greyhound is to make a run at the Rocky Mountain Kennel Club record over the 1,710 foot Peak Course, it could well be Oregon Kennel's Rebel Charlie.

The Peak Course record — 31.48 by Cappy Ann of the Blair Brothers kennel set on Sept. 29, 1973 — would seem to be virtually unbeatable, but Rebel Charlie, running against RMKC's premier competition, has been having the kind of year that makes it impossible to rule out a record-setting performance.

The times, not the number of victories, is what's important in record setting, however, and Rebel Charlie has consistently been in the low 32-second range.

He came within a breath of slipping under that time standard in his last race, winning the Oct. 31 feature race in 32-seconds flat. If he can lower that time another half-second, the record will be in trouble.

Rebel Charlie will get another chance at the record when he takes on the Peak Course in tonight's Grade A feature tenth race. And, if competition can bring out the best in him, he'll have a chance.

Running against Rebel Charlie will be John Denton, Gay Patches, Jeff Burroughs, Jo Happy Jerry, Dutch Day, Slim Jones and Shafted.

Donald Conatser's John Denton can boast of some pretty fast times himself. His best for the year is a 32.07.

Lynmar Hosts Tennis Tourney

Around 200 top-calibre tennis players from the Rocky Mountain region will be participating this week in the second annual Intermountain Open tennis tournament at Lynmar Racquet Club.

The tournament is designated as an open, meaning that any player from any age group may participate. It is sponsored by the Lynmar Racquet Club.

Competition will be held Friday, Saturday and Sunday with action extending to next weekend, Nov. 15-16. Play on Friday starts at 6 p.m.

Since the tournament is an open affair, it is expected to attract top-level competitors such as club pros, college stars, teaching pros and the best of many club players.

Each of the participating players must be members of the United States Tennis Association.

Bracketing for the tournament will be in five divisions: Men's singles, ladies' singles, men's doubles, ladies' doubles and mixed doubles. It will be a single elimination tournament.

In conjunction with the tennis meet, the Colorado State Racquetball Association will sponsor a clinic and exhibition on Saturday at 10 a.m.

Four top racquetball players from Colorado will be present. Jim Warner of Boulder, State singles champion, will play one exhibition against Dave Slander, Racquetball pro at the Denver Athletic Club.

A doubles exhibition will also be held.

All matches are open to the public.

On the night of Aug. 30 in Barn 57 at Hollywood Park, trainer Stuart Neims noticed that his promising filly pacer, All Systems Go, appeared to be running a fever and sweating profusely. He was puzzled, because she had taken a 3-mile walk that afternoon without incident, and appeared healthy. By 10 p.m., she was dead.

Ten days later in Barn 31, an indifferent claiming horse, Nevada Jack, was found dead in his stall by trainer Timothy Jobe. The horse had appeared all right when checked out the night before.

On the same day in Barn 56, trainer Lee Gardner found his 4-year-old filly, Judy's Paper Girl, with her head hanging down. A few hours later, she, too, was dead.

Two days later, in Barn No. 4, John Bennett's three-year-old colt, Amigo Real, toppled over. Four days later, Danny Parrish's Patty Pegasus died. Three days later, John Dick's Jack D. keeled over at four in the morning.

The track didn't know what to think. Was an equinocidal Jack the Ripper loose in the barns? The horses were largely unraced or lightly raced. So, no betting coup could be involved. Still, six horses toppling in their stalls in that period of time could hardly be coincidental. Other trainers noticed their pacers growing listless, and untrainable. They had "lost their action," pulled the buggies as if they were brewery wagons.

Autopsies were ordered. Aneurysms were suspected, but internal hemorrhages were syndromatic. A curious thing was noticed. In each case, about four or five gallons of non-clotted blood filled the abdominal cavity of the animals.

The horses were dying of the same things rats were dying of. The assassin was a chemical, the investigators from the California Horseracing Board came to suspect. The horses were eating a powder intended for far smaller inhabitants of the barns—rodents. The horses were poisoning themselves, chief investigator Leonard Foote came to believe.

It is hard to prove because this particular rat poison is the perfect murderer. It leaves no trace of its crime. Except, of course, the dead animal. But, its active ingredient, discovered in France, and distributed in this country since 1970, is Chorophacinone, an anti-coagulant compound that is toxic to wildlife, animal life, human life. In other words, pets, babies, and, as it happens, maybe horses. The Borgias would have loved it.

It is meant to be used sparingly. The exterminator told the Horseracing Board his procedure called for a "teaspoon" in a rodent hole, and none on top of the ground. But the board investigator, Gordon Anderson, found "large amounts" around the barns, spread around the edges of the stalls, in "approximately a four-inch spread and one-eighth to one-half-inch tick." Since horses are as indiscriminate eaters as sharks, it is probable they found it easily.

Hollywood immediately ordered a complete sweep-down of the barn area, a cleanout of the bedding, a washdown of the affected areas—and the deaths stopped. While the dead horses are hardly the Foolish Pleasures or Secretariats of the standardbreds, there was a multi-million-dollar horse, Nero, stabled nearby. And the owners and the trainers of the affected horses came there to race their horses, not to bury them.

I talked to five of the six owners and trainers at the barn area. Their claims range from $26,500 plus expenses demanded by Stuart Neims, to $25,000 for Gardner, to $10,000 for Parrish, $6,250 for John Bennett, and Tim Jobe wants only the $3,000 he used to claim poor old Nevada Jack.

"Our horses were poisoned, but the harness association says 'we are only the lessees of the track.' The track points to the poison company, and the poison company says 'prove it,' " explained Neims. "That's our predicament. We are not rich owners."

Somehow I don't think it'll sell as a county fair movie. But, consider if Dan Patch had been found as a two-year old with a belly full of his own blood and no clues? On the other hand, if the stuff is that powerful that you can eat enough to kill a horse with a nibble, it might have been better to have the rats.

Kunz' 'Pretty Good' Effort Earns Buff Big 8 Honor

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Iowa State Coach Earle Bruce said Monday Colorado's Terry Kunz "ran the ball pretty well against us."

"Pretty well" may have been putting it mildly.

The bruising Buff fullback ran 25 times for 187 yards and three touchdowns and was a major factor in Colorado's uphill 28-27 victory Saturday over the Cyclones.

Kunz's display of power earned him Big Eight Conference offensive player of the week honors. His selection by a panel of sports writers was unanimous.

Kunz, who also caught a nine-yard pass, scored twice on runs of one yard and a third time on a two-yard burst.

"It was his best game of the year," said Colorado Coach Bill Mallory. "He really was effective."

Also nominated were Nolan Cromwell of Kansas, Vince Ferragamo of Nebraska, Joe Washington of Oklahoma, Jim Wingender of Iowa State and Gary Chlouber of Oklahoma State.

Leroy Selmon of Oklahoma was unanimously selected the week for his performance in the Sooners' 27-7 triumph over Oklahoma State.

Selmon was credited with 18 tackles, one for a two-yard loss, and caused two fumbles which set up two of the Sooners' touchdowns.

Bears' Adamle Responds To Starting Assignment

CHICAGO (AP) — Mike Adamle of the Chicago Bears isn't cocky . . . just confident that he's as good as any back he has played behind in the National Football League.

For a change, the son of Dr. Tony Adamle, a former linebacker in the heyday of the Cleveland Browns, has been given a starters' role and he has responded magnificently.

In every situation I've been in professional ball, I've been a substitute back," said Adamle.

"At Kansas City I played behind Ed Podolak. With the New York Jets I played behind John Riggins. They are both good but I always felt I could play as well as they could. I thought the same thing about Walter Payton and Cid Edwards when I came to the Chicago Bears.

Adamle, comparatively diminutive among professional players at 5-feet-9 and 197-pounds, was placed in a reserve role and on specialty teams when the Bears acquired him from the Jets.

Three weeks ago Payton and Edwards came up with injuries and Adamle was given a start against the mighty Pittsburgh Steelers. He responded with 110 yards rushing for the best performance by a Bear back in several seasons.

"I was happy to get to Chicago," said Adamle. "It has always been a magic city to me."

Adamle apparently was referring to his career at Northwestern where he played under Coach Alex Agase, a former teammate and friend of his father. He set and still holds all of Northwestern's rushing records with 2,015 career yards, 1,255 yards in one season and 316 yards in one game.

"I consider my size an advantage," said Adamle. "When a guy comes to block me, he has to stoop and loses something. When I run, I hide behind my blockers and pick my holes.

"I go by what Coach Agase always told me that a big guy has to prove he can't play and a little guy has to prove he can play. Sure, if I'm standing next to a guy who is 6-3 and 230 pounds, I know he's going to get the first chance to play. But I've learned patience.

"My dad has been a big influence on me although he did not try to be. He never pushed me or said anything unless I asked him for help. I had aspirations of becoming a doctor but he told me that's the last thing I should do.

"Football provides me with a good income. But I really love the game and that's what motivates me. I get inspired when I get a chance to play before 50,000 people."

Adamle, who completed a halfback pass for 44 yards in Sunday's 46-13 loss to Miami, fashions himself as quite a passer.

"I was four-for-four in college and I also completed one in an exhibition game in pro ball. That's six-for-six. I'm not bragging but facts are facts. No, I don't want to be a quarterback. It's a thankless job and people don't know what quarterbacks have to go through. I'll just be happy to run."

In only three starts, Adamle now is tied for the Bear rushing lead with Payton. Adamle has gained 226 yards in 44 carries. Payton has 226 yards in 74 attempts.

Pac-8 Grid Teams Facing 'Roses or Nothing' -- Vermeil

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It looks like the Rose Bowl or no bowl for UCLA in the opinion of Coach Dick Vermeil.

The Bruins are locked into one of the most exciting Rose Bowl races in years with five teams having a shot at it.

But everyone has been beaten once and whoever is second in the Pacific-8 Conference will wind up with at least two defeats for the season.

That means, Vermeil said, the options for a bowl-seeking team in the Pac-8 are pretty much limited to the Rose Bowl.

"For a good, prestige bowl game there are too many teams in the country with good records," he said.

UCLA is 5-2-1 and 3-1 in the Pac-8 after being upset by Washington on a weekend that also saw California take over No. 1 in the league at 4-1 by beating Southern California. That tied the Trojans with UCLA, Stanford and Washington with one loss and three victories.

Vermeil feels UCLA has a good chance for the Rose Bowl, in fact he said, "I think we have a better chance of winning the conference today than I thought we did at the start of the season."

He said Monday the loss to Washington didn't really change anything as far as UCLA and the Rose Bowl is concerned.

"Our philosophy is that to go to the Rose Bowl you have to beat USC. Our whole program is based on that," said Vermeil.

"There's nothing we can do about last Saturday. But there's a helluva lot we can do about next Saturday and the two games after that."

The Bruins play Oregon at Eugene this Saturday. The following week they host Oregon State then take a week off before the season finale against rival USC, a game that may well indeed decide the Pac-8 Rose Bowl representative.

Things haven't really been changed that much by the loss to Washington, Vermeil said, even though the defeat was "frustrating and extremely disappointing because we could have been on top of everything at 4-0."

He said, "We still have to win three football games. The season's not lost, that's for sure. It makes us more determined to get the job done. I think we have the players here to get the job done."

Besides, said Vermeil, the Cal victory over USC showed that the Trojans can be beaten. And it also showed how good his team can be, he said.

Vermeil said quarterback John Sciarra is questionable for the Oregon game because of an injured calf muscle hurt when he hurdled into the end zone for a touchdown against Washington. Vermeil said he hopes Sciarra will be able to play but he's not overly concerned because backup quarterback Jeff Dankworth led UCLA to a victory over Oregon last year when Sciarra was hurt.

Olympics Get Lift From B.C.

MONTREAL (AP) — British Columbia businessmen are planning to raise $1 million to help stage the 1976 Summer Olympic Games in Montreal.

Herb Capozzi, chairman of the group, the British Columbia Olympic Association, and a former player with the Montreal Alouettes of the Canadian Football League, said Monday $500,000 will go to the Olympic flame program.

The rest, he said, will be used as the Games' revenue department sees fit, except that it cannot be used for building Olympic facilities.

The British Columbia group, which includes Mayor Art Phillips of Vancouver, will seek provincial government help in approaching industries and municipalities in the province for funds.

"In launching the program, we made it clear that the money received will not be used in construction of Olympic facilities," Capozzi said. "People at home are still very disappointed and this feeling is expressed in an unwillingness to grant to Quebec help or a subsidy which they failed to get themselves."

British Columbia twice tried to win the Winter Games for Vancouver-Garibaldi, but they will be held in Innsbruck, Austria, next year and in Lake Placid, N.Y., in 1980.

Ranger Faithful Still Love Giacomin

DETROIT (AP) —It wasn't easy for veteran goalie Ed Giacomin to face loyal New York Rangers' fans in a Detroit Red Wings' uniform.

In fact, before Sunday's National Hockey League game even began, and as the emotional crowd let Giacomin know how much they liked the former Rangers' netminder, the 11-year veteran thought of leaving hockey behind for good.

"After the cheers I was thinking, 'You gave enough to the game. Why don't you go over and shake hands with your old teammates and quit.'

"But that's not the way a professional athlete acts. He goes out a fighter," Giacomin said Monday.

Detroit, which won its second game of the season with Giacomin in goal, acquired the New York netminder for the $30,000 waiver price after he was released.

"They threw me to the wolves like a piece of garbage," Giacomin said of the Rangers. "I couldn't understand that they couldn't get a player for me . . . after all those years I felt like a nobody. It's going to be a hard feeling to erase."

Giacomin admitted he cried as the crowd shouted its adoration, and even his former teammates were affected by his departure.

"It was as hard for them as it was for me," Giacomin said.

"During the game there was one player—I won't tell you his name—who said to me, 'I'm sorry.' Then he scored on me. Four of them did that (scored) so you'll have a tough time guessing."

"They wanted a player," said Wings' General Manager Alex Delvecchio, indicating he drove a hard bargain with the Rangers. "They wanted Terry Richardson, our promising young goalie in the farm system. But we just paid the waiver price."

"He put himself in the pressure cooker," Delvecchio said of Giacomin.

"What a competitor. What a man."

In other developments after the 6-4 Sunday victory, the Wings said center Bill Hogaboam has suffered a shoulder separation and will be out of action for two to three weeks.

Hogaboam, first in Wings scoring with 13 points, received the injury against the Rangers.

The Wings also said they have recalled Bill Lochead from the New Haven Night Hawks of the American Hockey League. Lochead, last season's top draft choice for the Wings, scored four goals and four assists in seven games after being assigned to New Haven.

Bill Walton Sidelined With Sprained Ankle

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Bill Walton will miss tonight's National Basketball Association game between the Portland Trail Blazers and Atlanta Hawks.

The Portland center sprained his right ankle in the Blazers' 113-97 victory over Milwaukee Saturday. However, the swelling in the ankle had subsided and there is a possibility Walton may be ready to play when Portland meets Kansas City Friday night.

Toiling Bell Tops Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Southern Cal running back Ricky Bell and Toledo quarterback Gene Swick continued their quest of all-time offensive college football records last week, according to figures released today by the National Collegiate Atheltic Association statistics service.

Bell, who was held to 121 yards in last Saturday's upset loss to California, raised his eight-game seasonal total to 1,354 yards—within reach of Ed Marinaro's record 1,881 in 1971. Bell would need an average game gain of 176 yards—just more than seven yards over his current 169.2 average—although Marinaro accomplished his feat in eight games.

Bell had gained 253 more yards than his nearest competition for rushing leadership, Herb Lusk of Long Beach. Both have scored 11 touchdowns.

Swick, the national leader in passing and total offense, needs just 389 more in his next to last game, against Northern Illinois Saturday, to eclipse the mark of Stanford's Jim Plunkett in 1968-70. Plunkett collected 7,887.

Swick has completed 63.5 per cent of his 249 passes this season, gaining 2,012 yards and producing 14 touchdowns.

The two maintained their leadership in their respective categories this week. The only new leader was receiver Dave Quehl of Holy Cross, who has caught 44 for 620 yards, three touchdowns, and an average gain of 14.1.

Ohio State's Pete Johnson continued his lead in scoring for the sixth straight week with 19 touchdowns in eight games. He took the lead with a five-touchdown game against North Carolina on Sept. 27.

Arts Grants Given To Colorado Groups

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Endowment for the Arts has awarded 13 grants totaling $556,775 to Colorado organizations, mostly to the Colorado Council on the Arts and Humanities and the Denver Symphony.

The council is receiving $205,000 under the Federal-State Partnership Program. The grant to the symphony, totaling $200,000, will finance its Horizons in Music series and its college residence program.

Fort Collins and the Pueblo Regional Planning Commission are receiving City Spirit grants, the first ever awarded in the state.

The grant to Fort Collins is $13,555 for planning a municipal office of cultural affairs. The Pueblo commission is getting $14,000 for an area-wide environmental awareness program and a campaign to encourage development of an arts coordinating agency.

The funds were included in the first round of fiscal year 1976 grants to the state from the endowment.

Just under a year from now, the speech making, fund raising, parades, and rallies will be over, and the nation will have elected a President. National elections are due to take place November 2, 1976. Between now and then, candidates will spend millions of dollars to travel across the country, distribute brochures, campaign in the news media, and conduct other preelection activities. Starting in February, some states will hold primary elections to select delegates to the national conventions of the two major political parties. The Democratic convention is scheduled to begin July 12 in New York City. Republicans are scheduled to meet August 16 in Kansas City, Missouri.

Cargo Bound for Israel Moves Through Suez Canal

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Cargo for Israel — a load of Romanian cement in a Greek ship — has moved through the Suez Canal for the first time in at least 15 years.

The passage Sunday through the 103-mile waterway was made possible by the new Sinai accord negotiated by Secretary of State Henry Kissinger.

The 9,645-ton Olympus, which was leased to the Israeli Zim Lines, was due today at Israel's Red Sea port of Eilat, a government communique said. The ship was expected to spend several days taking on phosphate for Europe, then make the return trip back through the canal from south to north, a spokesman for the Transport Ministry said.

The Israeli Transport Ministry and the Suez Canal Authority in Egypt said they had no records of the last Israeli passage through the canal. Shipments to Israel through the waterway linking the Mediterranean and Red seas were believed common until Egypt nationalized the canal in 1956, but in 1959 Israel protested to the United Nations that Egypt was confiscating cargoes bound for Israel.

The Olympus moved under heavy security with a 20-ship convoy which sailed at dawn from Port Said, at the northern end of the canal, and entered the Gulf of Suez at sunset.

Egyptian officials barred newsmen and photographers from the canal area, saying they feared sabotage by Arab radicals or Palestinians who claim the Egyptian agreement with Israel betrayed the Arab cause. It was clear the Egyptians wanted to minimize the publicity.

Permission for the use of the canal for nonstrategic cargo going to and from Israel on ships not flying the Israeli flag was one of Egypt's major concessions in the agreement providing for the second Israeli troop withdrawal in the Sinai Desert. Israeli ships are still barred under the 1880 Treaty of Constantinople, which allows Egypt to keep ships from any nation with which it is at war out of the waterway.

It was the second successful test of the Kissinger accord. Israel released the Sinai oilfields last month, and American technicians are now operating them until Nov. 15, when Egypt takes over.

Meanwhile, the semiofficial Israeli state radio reported Prime Minister Yitzak Rabin told his cabinet Washington has cut $60 million from the $2.3-billion aid package it promised in return for Israel's signature on the agreement with Egypt.

The Israeli radio also said the first of the 200 U.S. electronic technicians who will man surveillance posts in the buffer zone in the Sinai have arrived in the Middle East. The State Department in Washington denied the report. The men are to begin staffing their posts early next year.

Armored Elbow Found On Track of Train

CHICAGO (AP) — An armored elbow was found under elevated train tracks on the South Side on Saturday, and its return made whole again a 16th century suit of armor at the Balzekas Museum of Lithuanian Culture.

Police, who recovered the elbow on a tip, found it wrapped in a rag and placed in a discarded Knights of Columbus candy box.

The entire suit of armor and other artifacts valued at $100,000 were stolen from the museum a week ago, but most of the loot was recovered when three men were arrested. The only things still missing after Saturday's find are some 13th century gold coins and an iron-piercing dagger, authorities said.

New County Building Concepts on Agenda

While funding for the new El Paso County building, Centennial Hall, hangs in the wind, the commissioners will review preliminary concepts of the building at 8 a.m. Wednesday.

The building is to be erected on the old jail block, cleared earlier this year by the Colorado Springs Urban Renewal Effort (CURE).

Commissioner Jack Vaeth has repeatedly said Centennial Hall will be built without raising the mill levy.

Commissioner Thom Foulks said last week that without further revenue sharing Centennial Hall will be "postponed indefinitely."

Much of the needed revenue sharing for the building may now have to be diverted to the partial completion of the judicial building. The county learned Friday that another federal grant it sought to assist in the judicial building project was denied.

Construction of Centennial Hall was delayed, according to the commissioners, when CURE ran into legal problems in demolishing the old jail. It is uncertain whether the county will first build an office building or a parking structure on the vacated block.

Following the review session with the building's architects, the commissioners will hold their regular board meeting. Scheduled for that meeting are:

— A discussion on the establishment of a regional museum with Kenneth I. Curtis, chairman of the Pioneer's Museum board;

— An application for expansion and modification of Diamond V's, 840 Arcturus Drive, under the existing liquor license;

— An application for a 3.2 retail liquor license by Aeok Lueth and Terue Cook at 1 Hazel Ave.;

— A subdivision waiver request by Fred C. Sproul, Inc., and Dinner Entertainment, Inc., for 34.1 acres northwest and adjacent to the intersection of I-25 and Woodmen Road.

After the board meeting, the commissioners will meet as the Community Services Board.

Peyton Voting Today On School Board Recall

Voters in Peyton School District 23J are going to the polls today to vote on the recall of School Board members Nick Manyik and Gene Eastham.

A statement from the recall committee said that the effort had been initiated because "there are some questions that cry for an answer concerning our school."

The board members were singled out with charges of inappropriate spending of school funds but an overall charge was levied at the total administration of the district.

Among the concerns expressed were the makeup of the Accountability Committee, the assignment of teachers to positions, the status of the district's accreditation, selection of students for the El Paso Community College Extension program and the lack of voter interest in the district's future.

The statement said, "We cannot afford to continue on in the present fashion of providing unnecessary frills, wholly unrelated to our accreditation program."

The reference was to what the committee felt was a cost of $2,000 for a string quartet, $2,500 of gymnastic equipment they charged was "unused", a "surplus of teachers," and a mill levy increase.

Menacing Filed Here Monday

A charge of menacing was filed in district court Monday against John Lovato, 33, of 2404 N. Tejon St., apt. 5.

He is accused of pulling a knife on Claude Valdez, of 2518 Chambers St., Friday.

Supreme Court Rules Trial Here Illegal

DENVER (AP) — The Colorado Supreme Court handed down two more rulings in search and seizure cases Monday.

One agreed with a Colorado Springs trial court decision that the search of an automobile owned by Gregory William Huffman was conducted illegally last January, when officers seized what was apparently marijuana.

The other overturned a Denver District Court decision which granted a motion to suppress evidence in a felony theft case which led to the arrest of Kenneth King.

In the first case, an officer arrested Huffman after he had stopped his car, detected what he thought was the odor of marijuana, and searched the car. The high court said that where the evidence indicates the officer is "uncertain" whether the odor is burning marijuana, probable case does not exist.

In the second case, the court said information received from an informant was sufficiently detailed to make it clear the informant relied on something more substantial than casual rumor in giving police a trip.

The warrant issued to search for the evidence — in this case, stolen checks was valid, the court said.

nals in the city computerized. But he noted the firm doing the work missed another "milestone" last Friday, the day the downtown area was scheduled to go onto the computer.

The meeting was so pleasant that Willman even told City Clerk - Treasurer Robert Parker that he, Parker, ran the best department in city govrnment and said "it's a pleasure to go in there."

The councilman said he had tried to get other departments to copy Parker's efficiency and pleasant way of handling the public.

Later today, the budget of the Department of Public Utilities was to be presented to the Utilities Financial Advisory Board and news media.

A 7 a.m. Wednesday, council will take up budgeting for the Fine Arts Center, the Colorado Springs Symphony, consumer fraud, the Mental Retardation Commission and the Boys' Club.

Also on the schedule are Social Advocates for Youth, La-Raza Unita and military chaplains' Outreach, although none of these three has been recommended to receive city aid.

Region's Construction Ahead of Last Year

Construction in the region so far this year is running about four percent ahead of last year.

Regional Building Department officials said this year's total is $64,796,291 compared with $62,255,124 for the first 10 months of 1974.

Construction of single family homes is also running ahead of last year. Permits have been issued for 706 of them this year with a value of $16.3 million compared with 666 last year with a permit value of $15 million.

October building permits amounted to $4,357,778, with $3.8 million of that for new construction and the balance for remodeling and additions. Last year's October total was $3.6 million.

One of the larger permits issued in October was for $761,607 to allow Hewlett Packard Co. to enclose a lower level at its plant.

Another sizeable permit was for $305,000 to construct a library for the Masonic Grand Lodge at 1130 Panorama Drive.

A permit for $93,900 was also issued for the Department of Public Utilities to construct an offcie - warehouse at the R. D. Nixon Plant south of Fountain.

School Allocation Plan 'Mystery' to Districts

PPEA member, where a halt had been called to salary discussions until after the review board decision was made. Canon City was granted $10.08 out of a request for $45.75.

Other districts faced the same situation, Dickinson said, with school boards telling teachers that funds are not available or that the decision has forced them to make further cutbacks in tight budgets.

Trying to explain the rationale behind the allocations, the review board said that in the case of Denver, it was determined that their anticipated revenues and leftover balance was nearly sufficient alone to allow the district to do all the program expansion site acquisition and teacher salary increases it planned. Therefore, the board granted about half of its request.

Local districts which do not have the anticipated revenue or balance to meet their budgets are left to wonder why they were then granted none or just a minor part of their requests.

High School Girl Reports Kidnap, Rape

A Coronado High School student told police she was kidnaped and raped at gunpoint Monday while walking home from school.

The victim said she was going home for lunch at about 12:30 p.m. and was in the 1000 block of West Fontanero Street when a man in a car stopped near her. She said the man asked if she wanted a ride, and when she refused, he pulled a gun and forced her into the car.

The man, according to the victim, drove to the Gold Camp Road area, and while driving forced her at gunpoint to remove her clothes. She said he stopped the car and raped her. The man drove the victim back into the city after he had raped her.

Officer Ralph Sanchez is investigating.
